LONDON (CP) — Premier Stalin announced tonight in a second broadcast special order of the day that the Red Army had extended its break-through northwest of Vitebsk, in White Russia, to a width of 50 miles.

Japs' Outlook Dark

LONDON (CP-Reuters) — The war in the Pacific has reached its climax and today the result hangs in the balance, said a German Transocean news agency dispatch from Tokyo this afternoon.

Wallace, Chiang In Agreement

CHUNGKING (AP) — Vice-President Wallace of the United States, President Chiang Kai-shek and other officials of the Chinese government have discussed matters of common interest and concern and "found themselves in agreement on basic principles and objectives," a joint Chinese-American press release said today.

General Turmoil In North Italy

BERNE (AP) — Reports from the Italian border today told of street fighting in Bologna and Milan, a general strike in Genoa and strikes in several facilities in Turin with the German-Fascist grip on northern Italy weakening steadily.

The Swiss Telegraphic Agency said German SS troops now have permanent guards in Milan factories to combat strikes and check a wave of sabotage.

Post Goes Begging

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Vice-Presidential nomination appears today to be going temporarily begging with two of the most-discussed possibilities — Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio and Governor Earl Warren of California — maintaining steadfastly that they are not considering or expecting it.

Bouchard Absent From Congress

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (CP) — Senator T. D. Bouchard, who is mayor of St. Hyacinthe, has advised officials here he will be unable to attend a regional Eucharistic Congress, starting today, it was learned today.

The congress will go on today and tomorrow, with Cardinal Villeneuve among those taking part in the services.

Senator Bouchard created a sensation by his speech Wednesday in the Senate, in which he charged that a French-Canadian organization known as the Order of Jacques Cartier, founded "with the blessing of the Catholic and French clergy," was plotting to set up an independent and Catholic state in Canada.

Pope Calls Priest To Tell of Stalin

NEW YORK (ONA) — On invitation of the Vatican, the Rev. Stanislaw Orlemanski is preparing to go to Rome at an early date to report personally to Pope Pius XII on his recent talks with Premier Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov in Moscow, it was learned today.

The invitation to visit Rome was taken in-informed quarters here as indicating that the Vatican was concerned with the possibilities of entering into an understanding with the Soviet government. The question of a Vatican-Kremlin accord, long bruited, has reached an acute stage with the imminent penetration of the Russian armies into areas—Lithuania and Poland—where large numbers of Roman Catholics live. It is considered likely that the disciplinary treatment the priest received was not initiated by the Vatican. Vatican circles may since have realized that the severe punishment meted out to him must have created an unfavorable impression in Moscow. By inviting Father Orlemanski to Rome for a personal report, the Vatican may have acted to offset that impression and thus open the way to negotiations.

Cherbourg Line Crumbles Nazi Troopships Sunk In Escape Attempt

Soviets Advance Up to 19 Miles In 3-Day Drive

LONDON (AP) — The Russians have crossed the river Svir between Lakes Ladoga and Onzskoe (Onega) advancing 12½ to 19 miles in three days, and have occupied more than 200 populated places, Premier-Marshal Stalin announced today in a broadcast order of the day.

German Garrison Near Isolation

MOSCOW (AP) — The Red Army, in a new central front offensive that is an integral part of Allied grand strategy, rolled westward in spectacular fashion today and reached points only 75 miles from the Latvian border.

The Russians battled swollen streams and considerable mud northwest of Vitebsk, where they pushed on Polotsk 32 miles away.

Reports from the Finnish front were that the new offensive had detracted nothing from the drive toward Helsinki and the liberation of the Leningrad-Murmansk railway.

Progress was reported in all the fighting areas, with the Finns apparently still unable to hold the weight of Russian armor and infantry.

Southeast of Vitebsk on the central front where the Russians have been across the highway from Vitebsk to the German-held fortress of Mersha, the Red Army surged forward and cut the railway which parallels the highway. It moved in the general direction of Minsk.

Operations in this sector across the Nazi communications appeared to be outflanking Vitebsk badly—so badly that the big Nazi garrison has no railways into the city.

St. Jean Baptistes Rally in Nanaimo

NANAIMO — First big meeting in British Columbia of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, with all addresses in French, is being held in Nanaimo this afternoon, arranged for French-Canadian troops stationed on Vancouver Island, and attended by civilian delegations traveling by special buses from Victoria and other centres on the island, it was announced today by Col. Heureux, organizer.

Rear-Admiral Brodeur of the navy, and Father Semmon were announced as the chief speakers.

Auto Licence Fees To Be Cut Again

Premier John Hart said today the 20 per cent rebate on passenger car licenses will be continued next year.

License fees were reduced by the government during the last session of the Legislature. This saved motorists of B.C. approximately $400,000, and resulted in many more cars being on the roads early in the year than in recent years, when persons tied up their cars several months in order to save on the fees.

Death Toll of 130 As Tornado Sweeps 2 Eastern States

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mounting reports of destruction in the tornado which tore with ruinous fury through parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia sent the death toll to at least 130 today, while more victims were sought in wrecked communities.

In West Virginia, the death list stood at 95 and in Pennsylvania at 35, with hundreds injured and many others homeless along a narrow twisting path mainly in rural areas.

Maryland state police reported that possibly 15 additional persons had been killed and many injured when the storm which broke at nightfall Friday hit Garrett County, just across the West Virginia line. Landslides hampered relief crews.

Meadowville, a little town in Barbour County, W.Va., was pictured as "wiped off the map."

MILLIONS DAMAGE

Red Cross workers at Pittsburgh estimated the storm damage would run into millions of dollars.

Scores were reported missing from homes demolished by the sudden, swirling wind which spent its fury on towns, villages and farm and coal country, with more than 100 miles into West Virginia.

Authorities feared the list of dead would increase as rescuers battled their way through the wreckage and searched the hills and hollows of West Virginia.

At dawn, 10 hours after a funnel-shaped cloud had descended first on Pennsylvania and then in its neighboring state, rescue squads redoubled their efforts to locate bodies.

North Germany, Railway Yards, Ploesti Oil Hit

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP) — U.S. heavy bombers hammered targets in north-west Germany this afternoon, following up morning blows by heavy bombers on rail bridges, airfields and installations behind the Normandy battle zone.

Meanwhile, other U.S. heavies today raided the Ploesti area in Romania and others attacked a railway bridge on the Oltu River near Piatra Neamt on the main line from Ploesti across Romania to central Europe.

The raids followed R.A.F. night blows at Nazi rail bottlenecks and R.C.A.F. attacks on flying bomb installations in France.

The Berlin radio reported U.S. heavy bombers also were heading into north-west Germany.

Skyways Crowded For Five Hours

The Channel skies were jammed with Allied planes of all types which roared back and forth continuously for more than five hours this morning and which were still going strong at noon.

Renewing their close support of the Allied invasion troops, the bombers, under fighter-bomber escort, dumped more than 250 tons of explosives on the heavy guns near Cherbourg. Crew members described the results as devastating.

This thrust got the day's aerial activity off to an early start, and with the weather apparently good it seemed likely that before sundown the continent would be ripped by Allied bombs from Normandy to the Reich itself.

Encountering only negligible anti-aircraft fire and no German planes at all, the entire force of bombers and escorting planes returned from the mission.

The daylight blow came after R.A.F. heavies smashed at Nazi rail bottlenecks some 250 miles south of the Normandy fighting zone, and after Mosquitoes had struck rail yards at Lisieux, Vire, Dreux, Evreux, Veneuil and Meziidon, and downed two German planes over the beachhead.

5th Army Rushes Up Italian Coast; Cuts Lateral Road

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME (AP) — Fifth Army tanks and infantry, advancing against strong resistance, today occupied Roccastrada on Highway 73 and cut a lateral road to the north, while another column closed in on Follonica, astride Highway 1 along the coastal route to Livorno and Pisa.

The Germans, who are making a firm stand against the British 8th Army in central Italy, are continuing to offer strong resistance east and west of Lake Trasimeno and in general the situation in Italy is little changed, an Allied headquarters communique said.

BATTLE AT CHIUSI

Hard fighting continued around Chiusi, nine miles southwest of Lake Trasimeno, which the enemy regained by infiltration. New German counterattacks north of Perugia were repulsed.

On the Adriatic coast sector, 8th Army troops had reached the outskirts of San Elpidio. Earlier reports had placed other units of the 8th Army near the vicinity of Morrovalle and Montecosaro, less than 25 miles from the port of Ancona.

French colonials, fighting to the east of U.S. forces, have reached a point slightly north of the village of Castiglione d'Orcia, 17 miles west of Chiusi. Between Perugia and the Adriatic coast, 8th Army forces were driving toward Camerino and Macerata.

Tax Vote Monday Product of Serious Thought By Council

Property owners and qualified agents voting Monday on the Empress Hotel tax by-law, it was pointed out today, will be passing judgment on an agreement reached between the C.P.R. and the City Council after careful consideration and mutual cooperation.

Negotiations which led up to drafting of the by-law, which includes the agreement, continued for several weeks and were thoroughly investigated by both parties before final arrangements were completed, it was recalled.

By the proposed by-law, the fixed payment by the company would be raised to $34,000 a year against the $10,000 paid annually under the 20-year agreement expiring Dec. 31. In addition the new terms eliminate provision for special water rates for the hotel, which is placed on regular by-law scales.

Voting will continue from 9 until 7 at the Public Market Building. The by-law requires a three-fifths majority to carry.

Civic leaders today urged all qualified to vote to exercise their franchise in order to give the council a true analysis of public opinion on the question.

Sargent Denies Zombies Maltreated

Brig. Roy Sargent, commander of the Combined Operations School at Courtenay, today described as "absurd" the charges from Quebec that French-Canadian troops out here were being badly treated.

In a Canadian Press dispatch, Ald. Joseph Matté of Quebec said he had received from 133 French-Canadian soldiers at Courtenay military camp a report of the "bad treatment" the men had received for refusing to sign for active service overseas.

Ald. Matté said the soldiers had written they were "refused medical attention, were treated as savages and insulted" and that "those who signed for active service were given gifts by the officers."

Robot Plane Fizzle As Fright Weapon

CURIOSITY IS CHIEF BRITISH REACTION—Despite destruction like this shambles, which was once a house in southern England, the average Briton is undisturbed and not excited about the new pilotless plane launched by the Nazis as Hitler's secret weapon. They regard it chiefly as a "sleep-disturber."

By FRED S. FERGUSON

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND (Exclusive Cable) — Recurring attacks by the pilotless planes leave the people in this section of England just as cold, undisturbed and unexcited as did the first news of the invasion of France.

"Quite a sleep-disturber, isn't it? But you can be sure they will have it conquered in a few days." This remark by a waiter as he served breakfast after constant explosions of gunfire, and with the sky filled with fire-works through the night, is typical of the civilian attitude.

Meantime, while the introduction of this new weapon is the topic of conversation and speculation, it is not permitted to interfere with regular civilian ways of life. Crowds through the parks, cricket games are proceeding, roads are filled with 100 bicycle clubs, whose men and women members were out for their usual week-end spin.

As usual, crowds gather round the space occupied by batteries, rocket and other anti-aircraft guns, which periodically fired madly. They collect in groups in the same way as otherwise they gather to watch Americans

Scottish Fund Reaches $741

Subscriptions today of $137.50 to the Scottish Comforts Fund bring the total to $741.

Every cent donated by Victorians goes to buy cigarettes and other comforts for men of Victoria's Canadian Scottish Regiment—the Victoria boys who came in from a wild sea on D. craft onto the French beaches, and who have since been beating a bloody path across the Normandy peninsula.

In addition to pledging a minimum of 100,000 cigarettes a month to the Canadian Scottish, members of the Women's Auxiliary have decided to greatly increase other gifts such as chocolate bars, razor blades and woolens. All donations to the Scottish Comforts Fund go to buy these cigarettes and comforts.

Outer Shell Of Line Cracks Before Yanks

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP) — A German convoy attempted to escape from Cherbourg Friday night, presumably with troops, and five or seven merchant ships, were sunk or damaged.

Progress in the land drive to capture Cherbourg has been "steady," but resistance is fierce and it looks as if the attack on the port might turn into stubborn street fighting," Supreme Headquarters said.

The Germans have been ordered by the German high command to "fight to the last," headquarters added.

The convoy from Cherbourg was intercepted by light British coastal forces, which sank two of the merchantmen and damaged three others despite a heavy barrage from escorting craft. Then the British ships drove the convoy into refuge at the Channel Island of Alderney.

U.S. troops smashing into the powerful outer shell of the Cherbourg line drove this morning within 2,000 yards—little more than a mile—of the port on the south and "enemy defences showed signs of crumbling," a field dispatch said, while British forces in the Caen area also advanced.

British Lash Out Northeast of Caen

Tank-escorted British troops took Ste. Honorine la Chardonnerette, four miles northeast of Caen, against the heaviest sort of resistance as Gen. Montgomery lashed out with his first swift attack to break the German hold on that sector.

Associated Press war correspondent Roger Greene reported that in a day-long tank battle Thursday in the woods between Ste. Honorine and Cuverville, a mile to the southwest, British tanks and anti-tank gunners knocked out 20 of 35 German tanks, British losses were described officially "very small."

In the Cherbourg fighting a U.S. spearhead punctured the stubborn, interlaced Nazi pillbox defences southeast of Coteville, the fortress just southwest of Cherbourg, after a pulverizing air and artillery bombardment. Associated Press war correspondent Don Whitehead said in a dispatch written at 9:15 a.m. today. (12:15 a.m., P.D.T.)

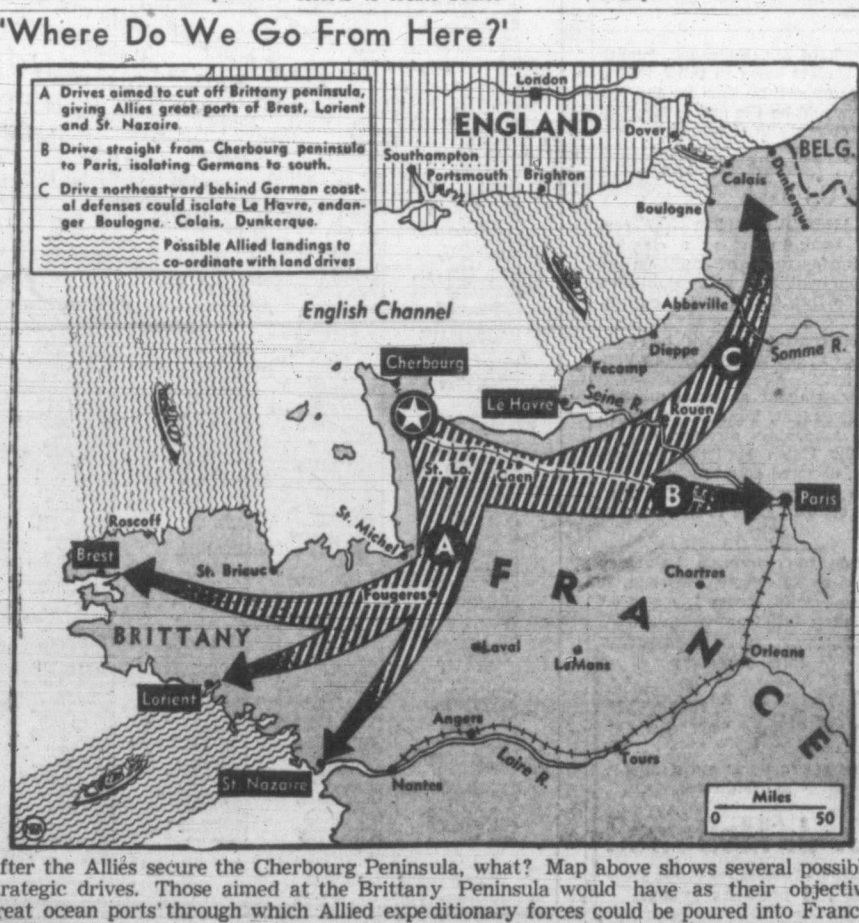

Headquarters said the Americans fought forward slowly and had all but reached the sea on both sides of the besieged port in hand-to-hand struggle with Germans resisting fanatically. The assault troops are battling "within sight" of the docks, "Supreme Headquarters said."

Okanagan Backs Coalition Move

KELOWNA, B.C. — Secretary W. Metcalfe of the South Okanagan Conservative Association today issued a statement that the association at its annual meeting here recently had unanimously passed the following resolution: "That this association go on record in expressing its approval of the formation of a new provincial government; that our executive be authorized to take such steps as from time to time they may deem advisable to accomplish this purpose, and that we express our approval of the activities of our member for South Okanagan, W. A. C. Bennett, in this respect."

Leonard Brockington's Invasion Day report of his experiences on the deck of H.M.C.S. Sioux, under Lt. Cmdr. Eric Bosk of Victoria, originally broadcast last Sunday, will be repeated over CBR and other stations from 7:30 to 8 this evening. CBC announced in a special message today, guaranteeing the time.

After the Allies secure the Cherbourg Peninsula, what? Map above shows several possible strategic drives. Those aimed at the Brittany Peninsula would have as their objective great ocean ports through which Allied expeditionary forces could be poured into France.

De Gaulle Problem Bungled By Allies Says Laski

By HAROLD J. LASKI
Professor of Political Science,
University of London

LONDON (Exclusive Cable)—It is magnificently clear that the invasion of Hitler's Europe is an outstanding success. We are well established in Normandy, the initiative rests with the command of the Allied nations.

It would be foolish to pretend that all that has occurred in these momentous days is more than the beginning. Obviously there lie ahead grim battles and heavy casualties. We are dealing with an enemy still powerful, habituated to war, and unlikely to surrender until the last faint hope of victory is decisively gone.

But we are dealing with him in a spirit in which none can mistake the note of confidence. We dominate the air, no troops on land have ever been given better protection as they effect consolidation of the beachhead. We have got the enemy guessing. This time it is not we who have to try to penetrate his mind, he has to try to penetrate ours.

It is too early to talk of victory. But I think it is legitimate to assume that this is the beginning of the final phase of the European struggle. When it ends, Hitlerism will have become more than an evil memory, the stain of which we will try slowly and painfully to erase from our minds.

DE GAULLE UNHAPPY

But there is one element in the struggle about which it is impossible to be happy. Neither the Americans nor ourselves have reached that accommodation with Gen. de Gaulle and the National Liberation movement in France which it is urgent to attain. Churchill refuses to discuss the matter, and will not even reply to questions about it in the House. It is pretty obvious that Roosevelt and de Gaulle are not exactly on friendly terms; there are empires of American in London who hardly conceal their dislike of the general and the ease with which they could find a road leading to Vichy.

It is little less than terrible that the man who, since the surrender of France, has symbolized the idea of resistance to Hitlerism, should be cold-shouldered by the powers with which he ought to be in closest alliance. It is the more terrible when one remembers the thousands upon thousands of Frenchmen to whom the call of de Gaulle has been the note in which they have found the dream of a renovated France.

I do not deny for a moment that de Gaulle is a difficult person. He lives in a dubious mystique, which is not easily compatible with democratic institutions. He is vain, lacks the art of collegialship, does not know how to be that primus inter pares (first among his peers) which is a necessary quality of a man wanting to build a democratic France. There is something of the actor in him. He is not very good in his choice of colleagues. But if he is set alongside any of his possible rivals, it seems to me clear that with all his faults he is head and shoulders above them. He has never, like Nogués (Gen. Auguste Nogués, former resident-general of French Morocco) had a foot in both camps. He is not tainted by the profound corruption which makes the gulf-line the natural end of Laval. He is not a dummy painted to look like life, as Petain.

GREAT AMBITIONS

I do not doubt that de Gaulle has great ambitions; I suspect he is ready, even eager, to be the Thiers of the fourth republic, even to make this France which has suffered so much pay a heavy price before he surrenders his chance of power. (Louis Adolphe Thiers, famous French statesman, who led in the rehabilitation of France after the Franco-Prussian war, became the first president of the third French Republic in 1871.) But it is important to remember that it is of a fourth republic that he seeks to be the Thiers. It is still more important to remember that Thiers' lasted only three years, and once France is liberated the evidence is overwhelming that de Gaulle will not have the authority of the people to play the dictator.

CRASS STUPIDITY

He has not managed the Committee of National Liberation too well, and there have been crass stupidities in his handling of the Consultative Assembly at Algiers. But when all is said against de Gaulle, it is very difficult to see any other alternative figure who can hope to effect the transition to normality. Roosevelt and Churchill have no difficulty insisting that the basis of this transition be built on the foundations of constitutional democracy. They have no difficulty demanding the exclusion from French politics of anyone of whose bona fides they are not assured. They cannot but know that any attempt on their part to put de Gaulle to one side may easily mean the outbreak of civil war in France, and they must know that such a development would have world repercussions impossible to measure. I do not know how Roosevelt and Churchill can plaster France with eulogies and put de Gaulle to one side. For whatever the offences and errors of de Gaulle, since the outbreak of the war he has stood up to Hitler with a courage evoking a magnificent response from his fellow-countrymen.

And there is the Atlantic Charter. Fighting France is surely entitled to make up its own mind on the man and men to whom it wishes to entrust its fortunes. One is left with the uncomfortable suspicion that de Gaulle is in bad odor in Washington and London because he has spoken to their leaders on equal terms. He may be reactionary; Churchill's democracy is not his outstanding characteristic. He may be determined to build a France which stands as of old in the front rank of the nations; in the light of history is Roosevelt entitled to resent that view? The sooner we reach a common understanding the better for the world. It is only Hitler who profits from the present estrangement.

'Little People' of Britain Forget Troubles With D-day

By ELSIE N. DANENBERG
Victoria Times Correspondent

LONDON (Exclusive Cable)—The "Little People" of England have gone back to work with new will, new spirit, new hope—but the thrill of D-Day lingers on. Gone is the apathy, tiredness, eternal griping, the dull, drab outlook on life.

There is a new lift in the air. You feel it in the energetic way the charlady, working in the first floor front hallway, attacks her objective, breaking through one high-water line of defensive dirt after another, mopping up all intervening obstacles of filth and gaining her beachhead of spotless floor area in unprecedented time.

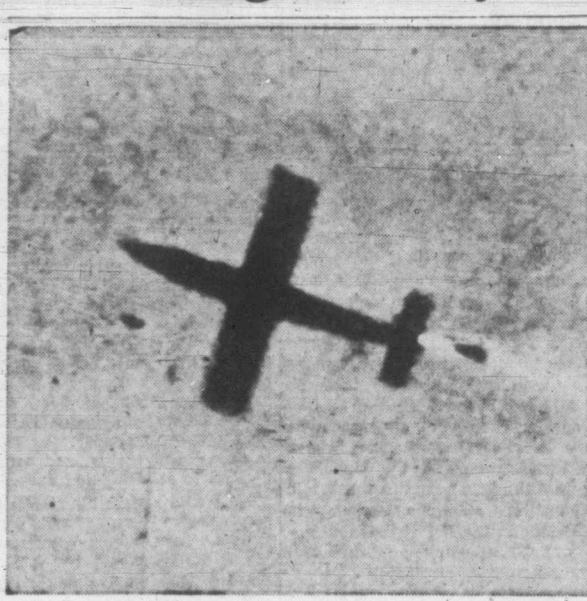

PRODUCTION SOARS

You see it in factories, where production has soared upward and absenteeism has hit an all-time low. You observe it in volunteer centres, where women vie with each other, offering their services for blood banks and canteen duty and hospital help.

It is almost two weeks now since D-Day. The long wait is over. The invasion is here at last. Everybody is glad, but with quiet gladness, tempered by the knowledge that behind the "silver lining" of the invasion clouds there are the heartaches of those who must receive the dread telegrams: "We regret to inform you..."

Allied Communique 37

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY
FORCE (CP) — Communique No. 37.

Fighting is heavy and resistance strong immediately before Cherbourg. We are making steady progress and are now within a short distance of the north coast on both sides of the fortress. West of Caen enemy resistance has increased.

To the east of the River Orne warships have bombarded enemy troops and armor. Intermittent shelling of the eastern anchorage continues and brief gun duels between Allied warships and mobile batteries ensue.

The Allied air forces yesterday concentrated their attacks on enemy reinforcements attempting to move westward from Paris and up from southern France. Principal road and rail arteries and air fields from below the Loire estuary to the Oise were bombed and strafed despite changeable weather and determined opposition by the enemy in some areas.

From noon till dusk fighter-bombers and fighters followed the main railways east and west of Chartres and to the south, hitting railway yards at Nantes and Chateau du Loir, cutting tracks in many places, and destroying locomotives and freight cars, especially at Quince, Saumur and south of Nantes. Bridges and viaducts at Chartres, Jussy, Nogent and over the Oise and Somme were also attacked.

At least 11 enemy aircraft were shot down, 10 of them in combat over the Caen-Evieux area. Eight of our fighters are missing from the day's operations.

On their second mission of the day our heavy bombers, eight of which are missing, attacked air fields at Athies and Juvincourt near Laon. Their fighter escort hit rail and road and other targets east of Paris.

Towards dusk medium and night bombers attacked military objectives in the Pas-de-Calais area. Later heavy and light bombers attacked rail centres at Saintin and Limoges, losing two aircraft.

Victoria Nature Walks

By ROBERT CONNELL

ROCKS AT HOLLAND POINT

At the corner of Douglas Street and Dallas Road members of the geological section of the Victoria Natural History Society met for two or three hours' exploration of the neighboring shoreline. By the wind-bowed shrubs between the road and the edge of the cliffs they proceeded to the west side of Holland Point and then across one of the remaining remnants of grassy prairie that recall the first landing of the Hudson Bay pioneers at nearby Clover Point. Here in latter June the crowded or harvest Hookera shows in the grass its rich violet-blue blossoms, each with its crown of white petal-like false stamens. It extends its range all the way from here to the borders of Mexico, always west of the Cascades and the Sierra Nevada. Following the path down the cliff the Californian lupine is seen in all its wealth of pale yellow; this comparatively recent stranger is increasingly competing here with the golden broom.

By the shore the rock underlying the clay cliffs is exposed, making a notable margin to Holland Point, running out to sea in a little peninsula at the west corner, rising in the tiny islets of Glimpse Rocks and farther out in the familiar Brodie Ledge. These rocks bear evidence of the effect produced by the invasion of an already cool hard rock by an intruding molten one, which coming up from below possessed sufficient explosive force to shatter the older rock into fragments ranging in size from many feet in length to fractions of an inch, and yet plastic enough to retain these fragments as in cement.

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Daily Times
Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA — Federal political circles say the C.G.F. victory in Saskatchewan is hastening the inevitable day of a Federal showdown between the forces of the Left and the forces of the Right in Canada.

Expectation is that at least two conditions will have to be fulfilled before the Mackenzie King ministry appeals to the country, namely:

(1) Situation on the European invasion front will have to become stabilized to the point of permitting a vote to be taken among Canada's overseas forces.

(2) Government will have to bring down and pass this session's budget and complete its legislative program in order that it may appeal to the country upon its record of performance, as against the highly general inducements of the C.C.F.

Completion of these two steps, parliamentary circles here consider, will take at least the better part of six weeks, thus postponing any possibility of a Federal general election until autumn at the earliest.

OTTAWA PUZZLED

Meanwhile, Parliament Hill continues to ask: Why did Saskatchewan vote as it did—overwhelmingly and almost savagely against the Patterson Government with its reputation for sound and reasonably able administration headed by a man who since 1921 has held and won increasingly the confidence of the province's electors?

The answer most commonly given is that the Saskatchewan voters succumbed to an attack of "sweep" psychology such as returned the Aberhart Social Credit government to power in Alberta in 1934. But when you probe more deeply for the specific causes of this "sweep" psychology in Saskatchewan, the explanation given among the western M.P.'s are varied.

PROTEST GARDINER

One they widely held even in Liberal circles is that the Saskatchewan electors were protesting against the alleged domination of the Patterson Government by Federal Agricultural Minister J. G. Gardiner. One Liberal M.P. from the Prairies said: "The Saskatchewan people were tired of Premier Patterson being Charlie McCarthy to Mr. Gardiner's role of Edgar Bergen. They wanted the province run from Regina, not from Ottawa, and by the provincial government, not the Gardiner political machine."

Another explanation professes to detect a strong bias in the result against Eastern Canada financial interests. Dissatisfaction over mortgage indebtedness, rates of interest, and cost of credit on the Prairies, which served largely to put the late Premier Aberhart into power in Alberta and secure cavalier treatment there for the financial interests, is declared on this view to have been a strong motive with the Saskatchewan voters. Federal M.P.'s of the old-line parties who took part in the campaign declare that the criticism they were called upon to meet most often was the popular idea on the Prairies that the chartered banks were being allowed to build up huge hidden reserves which they were protected against having to disclose to the public by Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley and the Liberal Party, with the connivance of the Progressive Conservative members of the Banking and Commerce Committee.

NORMAL REACTION

Final explanation from M.P.'s who were in the campaign is that the Saskatchewan people reacted normally against the controls to which they have become increasingly subject over recent years by deciding that, if they were fated to be pushed around by bureaucrats, they would choose a party which professed to be expert in the field of state planning to do the pushing. The election results are read by many thoughtful M.P.'s as a rebuke to the many concessions by which the old-line parties have sought to compromise with state social-

Dollar-a-Year Man Mistake Feared

OTTAWA (CP) — George Cruickshank, L. Fraser Valley, said Friday in Commons that when he first came to Ottawa his ambition was to be mistaken for the Prime Minister, have people think he was L. W. Brockington, radio commentator and Ottawa lawyer, when he spoke, and have his photograph taken by Yousuf Karsh (an Ottawa photographer).

Now, his fear was that he would be mistaken for a dollar-a-year man.

RUSSIA STRIKES HARD

OVER A SUBSTANTIAL AREA NORTHwest and southeast of the Nazi defence hub of Vitebsk the forces of the Soviet Union have breached the enemy's lines at several points. Although this latest and apparently all-out offensive is only two days old, advances as this is written indicate that the advancing troops already have carried out three parts of their encircling movement, thus more or less neutralizing one of the most elaborate fortification systems the Wehrmacht had erected in the north-central sector of the eastern front.

The importance of this early achievement resides in the fact that once Vitebsk is reduced to impotency, German forces defending the line from west of Gomel at the edge of the Pripiet Marshes to Pskov in the north will have been effectively divided. In other words, development of the offensive is an immediate threat to the three Baltic states —and the border of East Prussia is only 300 miles to the west—while the important strategic prizes of Minsk and Pinsk obviously will beckon the Red Army to high-speed energy. And it may be assumed that as the north-central battles go well for Marshal Stalin's men, complementary activity will be resumed on the southern Polish, the Czechoslovakian and Romanian sectors. Even Turkey may be impressed by the latest Russian move; and the progress of the invasion of Normandy assuredly has convinced her that she would have little to fear through lending a military hand to her British ally and her other friends.

While the armies of the Soviet Union and the Allies in Italy are reminding Adolf Hitler how right was his "Mein Kampf" warning to Germany never again to fight on two fronts at the same time, his Nazi legions in the Cherbourg peninsula and in other parts of the Normandy sphere of activity are having a difficult time of it. The battle for the great French Atlantic port is obviously in its final stages. Regardless of the Nazi order to its defenders to fight to the last or be shot for cowardice, the outer bastions of Cherbourg are gradually being reduced, with fighting reaching a tempo of ferocity which soon must end the struggle.

Besides the obvious and early result of the Battle of Cherbourg, moreover, Field Marshal von Rundstedt's thankless and hopeless task in this area is being made all the more difficult by the activities of French patriots who are no longer working underground. The enormous amount of damage they already have done to communications and railway equipment is a highly-valuable contribution to the task of General Mont-gomery's ground troops in every theatre in Normandy. Nor does the Nazi high command know from one minute to another when and where additional landings may be made. Verily has the Soviet Union put on the eastern squeeze at the right moment.

MONDAY'S BYLAW VOTE

WHEN THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILway Company built the Empress Hotel and subsequently added large and palatial ferry steamers to its world-girdling transportation system it displayed courage.
Those responsible for this commendable foresight lived to see the benefits of their imagination and vision. What was good business for the railway company was also excellent business for the city of Victoria and surrounding districts. These developments at the beginning of the century laid the foundations for a lucrative and ever-growing tourist industry.

A new chapter in Victoria's civic business with the C.P.R. is about to be written by the submission of a bylaw to readjust taxation and water charges in respect of the Empress Hotel. Under the old agreement between the city and the company, which will expire at the end of the present year, the city received $15,000 annually. Under the new agreement upon which the taxpayers must express their views, the munici-pality's revenue will be increased to some $45,000—made up of $34,000 as the fixed rate of taxation on the property itself and between $10,000 and $11,000 for water to be sold at a higher rate than that obtaining at present, the resultant revenue dependent, of course, on the volume used. The company has agreed to the terms of the new agreement; all that is needed is its approval by those qualified to vote on the matter.

In this regard, however, it is highly desirable that next Monday's verdict should be conclusive in every sense of the term.
This is essential both from the company's standpoint as well as the taxpayers' interests.
Too often when issues of this kind are dealt with at the polls only a handful of the electorate turns out to exercise its prerogative.
In the case of the Saanich school building bylaw last Saturday, for example, only 1,356 took the trouble to cast ballots out of nearly 10,000 qualified taxpayers, with the result that the proposal failed of its three-fifths majority by 19 votes. Apathy should not mark the disposal of Monday's appeal.

Resignation of Saskatchewan's new Premier, Rev. T. C. Douglas, of his federal seat, tunity to enter Parliament.

LIVING MEMORIALS

AT ITS RECENT NATIONAL CONvention the Canadian Legion declared against the erection this time of war memorials of stone or bronze. The Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island have fallen in line with this view and succeeded in inducing the Duncan Board of Trade to disregard a proposal it had originated earlier —calling for memorials of this kind in all our educational institutions to commemorate the Battle of Britain.

At the end of World War I, this country was dotted from coast to coast with statues and a wide range of designs in granite. We set them up because it had been our custom as far back as our history goes thus to commemorate the battles and wars in which we had taken part. After a quarter of a century of looking at some of these latest memorials, our regard and enthusiasm for them is not as high as it was when we dedicated them with lavish ceremony. There has arisen doubt that they really expressed that for which our men served and died.

Because of this, the Legionnaires and now the trades board people believe that the money we put into such memorials could have been used to better advantage.
They are out to see that a similar policy is not followed at the end of this war. Their object is the provision of living memorials, to combine a tribute to the dead with practical benefit to the living—for whom those who fell in war died. Suggested are funds for scholarships, research, education, aid for underprivileged or incapacitated, for community and social centres, ball fields, hockey rinks, parks and gardens.

There can be little doubt that popular sentiment towards memorials has undergone a change. People today seem to be definite in their opinion that a memorial is best expressed by something having a living value, rather than by a tombstone, however glorified. After all, there stands out the fact that the boys and the young men whose spirit we seek to commemorate were alive, energetic and active. It is fitting that tokens of gratitude to them should be something which is alive and of service to the living.

FARM MACHINERY SALES

THE PRAIRIE PROVINCES, MANITOBA, Saskatchewan and Alberta, are the largest buyers of farm machinery in the Dominion. This is due primarily to the fact that the land is clear and lends itself well to the utilization of mechanized equipment.
During the years 1938-43, inclusive, these provinces bought $153,400,000 of farm machinery. During the same period, all other Dominion provinces combined purchased only $94,300,000 of farm equipment.
The peak of farm implement sales was reached in 1941 before restrictions on the output of new machinery were put into effect and when the farmers were preparing themselves to increase production to meet war demands.

During 1941, total sales of farm machinery in the Dominion aggregated $52,100,000 as compared with $36,200,000 in 1938. In 1943, the sale of farm machinery amounted to only $28,400,000 as the result of restrictions on output. In each year, the Prairie Provinces were the principal buyers of this type of equipment. In the case of implement parts, sales reached the highest level for the war period in 1943. Figures on sales of parts by 10 large implement firms during 1941 were as follows: $4,700,000 for the Prairie Provinces and $2,000,000 for the other provinces. During 1943, these provinces bought $8,100,000 while all other provinces combined purchased $3,200,000 of implement parts.

Since the income of the farmers in the Prairie Provinces has been large during the war and since they have been able to accumulate substantial savings, the prospect is that the sale of farm machinery in the postwar period will be at a high level, especially if the measure giving the farmers greater credit facilities goes into effect.

WHAT THE 'IDIOTS' DID

GENERAL SIR BERNARD MONTGOMery's reference to the Anglo-American team in Normandy seems to have captured the imagination of many American editorial writers—particularly his "we are the only two peoples in the world who could have done it." Says one widely-read commentator:

"The general is probably right. Other anti-Axis nations quarrel with each other, and within their own boundaries. British and American policies and diplomacy don't always jell. But the two armies have fought as one—from Tunisia to Normandy. And General Montgomery gives credit where credit is obviously due—to General Eisenhower."

"Through the long pre-invasion months of planning, Britons and Americans were 'we' to General Ike. Any American officer who couldn't work with his British colleagues was sent packing.
By such methods General Eisenhower showed that he was a great enough coach to put together the greatest team in the world."

And most people will recall that it was Adolf Hitler, after the Dieppe raid, who said one could not tell what the "military idiots" of the Allies would attempt next.
So be it. Now he knows what the men who met at Teheran cooked up for him.
Von Rundstedt and Rommel know, too.

NOTES

Does anyone remember 'way back when Adolf Hitler could make a radio speech and scare anybody?

We heard of a fellow who tried to break a will because his father had left cash instead of a good used automobile.

The Ontario government has imposed a further 5 per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting at race tracks, thereby, it is said, killing the goose that was laying the golden eggs. It appears that the customers instead of staying at the tracks until the last race, now are leaving at the fifth race. The reason being that they now go "broke" earlier.

Victory In Pacific

By CONSTANTINE BROWN

JAPANESE NELSON

VICTORIES OF THE American forces in the South Pacific have exceeded the most optimistic expectations of the American commanders.

As a matter of fact, in all sectors of the vast Pacific the offensives are many weeks ahead of schedule. In the South Pacific, the fighting forces under Gen. Douglas Mac-Arthur are between five and eight weeks ahead of their program and we may hear before the end of the year that the American flag is flying again over important territories which only 12 months ago we believed could hardly be reached before the end of 1946.

One of the important reasons why plans are so far ahead of schedule is that the Japanese suffered severely in the loss of Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, the man who planned the Pearl Harbor attack. It was Yamamoto who promised the Japanese people he would dictate peace in the White House. He suffered a serious "accident" in the South Pacific in the fall of 1943 and disappeared while conducting an important naval operation from an airplane.

THE PERSONALITY of the commander-in-chief of the naval or ground forces counts a good deal with any army. In Japan it counts even more than in any other country.

Yamamoto had a dynamic and aggressive personality. He was a brilliant strategist.
While he was in command of the Japanese navy we had to watch our P's and Q's. He is said to have been overruled by the supreme command in December, 1941, when he wanted to exploit his spectacular Pearl Harbor victory by concentrating all of Japan's efforts against Hawaii and the Panama Canal and the west coast. The greedy Tokyo leaders believed it would take the U.S. two years to recover from the blow at Pearl Harbor and decided to take over the whole of the South Pacific area, including Australia, before attacking the American mainland in force.

So sure were they that Australia would become a Japanese colony that they sent tons of invasion money to Dutch New Guinea. When the American forces occupied Hollandia several weeks ago they found at the headquarters of the Japanese commanding general about eight tons of pound and shilling notes to be used by the Japanese invasion forces in Australia.

So long as Yamamoto was alive the American naval commanders had to exercise the utmost care in their operations. Yamamoto was not afraid of taking chances and may have attacked where he was least expected. His defeat at Midway was a severe blow to the Imperial Navy since it lost most of its large carriers. Nevertheless, he was ready to operate with what was left.

THE JAPANESE "NELSON" was succeeded by Mineichi Koga, a "defensive" admiral. He was the type who would take no chances. It was with deep sorrow that the high-ranking American naval officers learned that last May he had met with an accident similar to that of Yamamoto while flying from one naval base to another.

Koga made little use of the offensive weapons of Japan's navy. He used and squandered the submarine fleet in fruitless operations. Instead of attempting to interfere with our amphibious forces escorted by task fleets, he used his submarines in an attempt to supply Jap garrisons which had been cut off from their supply bases and were dying on the vine. He tried to repeat the Attu operations and withdraw ground forces from the beleaguered Southwest Pacific islands. And when this was not possible he managed to get out at least high-ranking officers in order to save them from surrender or hara-kiri.

Koga was the ideal opponent. He had neither initiative nor imagination. The United Nations laid the foundation of our spectacular victories while he was in command of the Japanese navy.

His successor, Admiral Soemu Toyoda, is still an unknown quantity. He does not have the brilliance of Yamamoto, but he is said to be less "cautious" than Koga. We will find out more about him in the near future, probably this fall.

IN THE MEANTIME, the Imperial Navy has suffered from a war of attrition. The American submarines have played a glorious role. Their full story will not be known until after the war is over. But it can be said now that they have reduced the Japanese Navy's aggressive power substantially.
Most of the Jap navy's vitally important oil tankers have been sent to the bottom.
Japan's yards are now producing small tankers seldom exceeding 1,000 tons. They are useless for long-range naval engagements. The modern units of the Japanese navy, battleships, large cruisers and fast destroyers, have been kept in hiding by the high command.

The Japs are watching the movements of the American fleet under the command of Admiral Nimitz in the hope of some day catching it divided up in small groups. The Japanese will not strike unless they have an overwhelming superiority. The Imperial Navy is said to be cruising between Singapore and the home waters waiting for a chance it may never have. Whether or not it will give battle depends entirely on the personality of the new commander-in-chief.

For the time being Toyoda has not shown much aggressive spirit, although in the most recent engagements around Salpan he has indicated more aggressiveness than his unfortunate predecessor. So far as the American high command is concerned, it would welcome a showdown with the Imperial fleet any time it is willing to come out of hiding.

News Analysis— The War Today

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.,
Associated Press War Analyst

The new Russian offensive marks the end of Hitler's last hope for divisions among the Allies which would prevent their full military co-operation. That the drive had been fully expected defracts little.

The two great jaws of the vise in which Der Fuehrer now finds himself cannot but remind us of the situation just four years ago, when France had fallen in one of history's greatest military defeats. Hitler stood on the shores of the English Channel. He assembled an invasion fleet, suffered tremendous losses before he could get it under way and, overconfident in his land army,
decided to take another tack.

He would secure his flanks in southeastern Europe and whip Russia. Then, with no threat at his back, he would be able to mass everything against Britain.
Right then and there he opened the two-front war which was to prove his downfall. In sight of Moscow, in the fall of 1941, his legions faltered and the war was decided. Later, when he entered Stalingrad, there was no Allied fear of the ultimate outcome.
The Russians had shown what they could do.

Today two great pressurescrews are pinning Hitler to the pillory. Not even he can feel the slightest hope of escape. It's merely a question of how many Germans he and his high command are willing to see killed before the end, of how many Germans are willing to be killed.

on a market day, and Benjamin Franklin observed that people coming to market were surprised on hearing the sound of a bell at a greater distance from the city than they had ever heard a bell before. The curious Franklin discovered that the sound of the bell, when struck in the street, reached nearly double the dis-

THIS WAR—FOUR YEARS AGO

June 24, 1940—Italian-French armistice agreement signed at 7.15 p.m. Italian attacks in Alps thrown back by French as Germans occupied Atlantic coast of

and other taxes sharply increased.

June 25, 1940—Hostilities between France and Germany and Italy ceased officially at 12.35 a.m. Germans announced the armistice terms called for complete French capitulation and that final peace must await the conclusion of the war with Britain.

'Terrific' Lumber Boom For This Island Just Ahead; Mayhew Tells Why

By R. W. MAYHEW, M.P.

Great Britain lost over 1,000,000 homes from Nazi bombing. This was 8 per cent of their homes. In addition, tens of thousands of service men and women will return to the British Isles and will have to be provided with decent housing accommodation.

Prime Minister Churchill in his speech, March 26, outlined a plan to raise the standard of housing in Great Britain and announced that 3,000,000, and possibly 4,000,000, new permanent homes will be built during the 10 years following the war, by government financing.

These permanent homes will be provided with all modern conveniences—running water, bath-rooms, electric light and power, central heating plant. They are in addition to, and will replace, the 500,000 prefabricated houses built as a temporary measure to relieve the pressure on housing caused by bombing.

MARKET FOR B.C. PRODUCTS

Where is Great Britain going to obtain this tremendous amount of lumber and lumber products? Before the war Great Britain obtained practically all her supplies of lumber and allied products from British Columbia, Russia and the Scandinavian countries. It appears probable that Russia will not be a major factor in exporting lumber to Britain until she is able to rebuild her bombed and destroyed city, and even farm homes. Poland, Holland and Belgium and France will be competing with Great Britain for lumber to restore the ravages of war. Great Britain will have to obtain the greater part of her needs of lumber and building products from Canada. In the pre-war period, British Columbia supplied well over 30 per cent of the lumber imported by Great Britain. In the 10 years following this war it is probably that British Columbia will be called upon to supply well over half the lumber and forest products required by the British Isles, and perhaps two-thirds.

$150,000,000 A YEAR FOR B.C.

If British Columbia could obtain but half the total of lumber and forest products required by Great Britain, our share would reach $150,000,000.

In addition to the British market, British Columbia has always supplied large amounts of lumber and allied building materials to China, New Zealand, India, and a number of the South American countries, and it is probable that this demand will be greatly increased after the war when shipping is again available.

The lumber industry of British Columbia will not need to seek markets in the postwar period. They must prepare to meet a demand which will probably be double, if not treble, the ordinary demand up to 1939.

ALL ISLAND MILLS NEEDED

This island has a great number of small mills which have had a difficult time during the war period, because they could not ship their cut overseas. In the postwar period, every one of these small lumber mills will be needed to help supply the terrific demands of new construction. Operators of small modern mills should make plans immediately to have their mills ready for maximum operation. Owners of obsolete types of mills would be well advised to modernize their mill equipment to be ready for postwar demand and future profits. I regret that a number of small mills on the island have sold out or closed down. Under present and future conditions, it will be a crime if a single lumber mill on Vancouver Island is closed, or even continues to restrict operations. We must plan and build for the future, because the lumber industry is our third largest industry, and in the 10 years following peace, may well become our most important industry.

DOUBLE OR TRIPLE EMPLOYMENT

It is my belief that our lumber industry can and will be able to provide work for two to three times the number who were employed during the depression days of the thirties, because we will have double to treble the demand from overseas. We will also have a big backlog of demand in Canada and the United States. So, when I predict that the lumber industry of British Columbia is due to experience perhaps its greatest degree of prosperity in history, this opinion is based upon substantial facts.

I firmly believe that a period of increased prosperity will dawn with the coming of peace. The people of Vancouver Island, and of British Columbia, must be prepared to meet these new demands, because it will help to provide needed employment for our servicemen immediately following the war. It is our duty to prepare, not only to help these gallant men, but to help ourselves in the difficult postwar period.

The time to plan and prepare is now.

Do You Feel Nervous
And All on Edge?

People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycero Lecithin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. It is especially beneficial for convalescents. By increasing the supply of Vitamin B (1) in the system, appetite is improved and the system thereby built up to normal. If the loss of appetite was due to a deficiency of Vitamin B (1) in the diet, $1.00 at all Cunningham Drug Stores and other Drug Stores. (Adv. OC-1)

Wives and Families of Commanders On Home Front

Watching on the home front is Mrs. Valentine S. Godfrey and her two children, Peggy and John. Cmdr. Godfrey, R.C.N., is in command of the H.M.C.S. Prince Henry, which transported troops on D Day to the Normandy shores. Mrs. Godfrey and her children soon will take up residence at 2220 Beach Drive.

Mrs. T. Douglas Kelly, wife of Cmdr. Kelly, R.C.N.R., who is in command of the H.M.C.S. Prince David, sister ship to the H.M.C.S. Prince Henry, is pictured with her son Gordon. While her husband aids in the carrying of troops to France, Mrs. Kelly is carrying out her war effort as president of the Women's Auxiliary to the R.C.N.

Miss Jentie Moyes Becomes Bride of Irving Strickland

A tailored suit of soft Glen-istie tweed in the aqua shade, with accents of white and nigger brown accessories was the ensemble chosen by Jentie Cunningham, eldest daughter of Mrs. Catherine M. Moyes, 2008 Fernwood Road, for her marriage at 2:30 this afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to Irving Alfred Strickland, second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Strickland, 76 Moss Street. Rev. Walter Ross read the service.

The groom is a popular member of the staff of the Victoria Daily Times and is widely-known throughout the city as a press photographer.

The bride was given away by George Clifford, a friend of the family, and her corsage bouquet was composed of gardenias and swainsons. Mrs. J. A. Beck attended her sister as matron of honor and wore a cocoa brown gabardine suit. Her accessories were gold and her corsage bouquet of Tailsman roses and violets. Arthur Stott was groomsmen.

C. C. Warren played the wedding music and Miss Vera Elliott of Vancouver sang "O Promise Me" while the bridal party was in the vestry.

About 50 guests attended a reception in the Duke of Kent room at the Empress Hotel, where the mother of the bride received the guests. Owing to the illness of the bridegroom's mother, her daughter, Mrs. B. C. Cramer, assisted Mrs. Moyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left by plane for a honeymoon in Vancouver, after which they will reside in Victoria. For traveling, the bride donned a nigger brown camel hair coat over her wedding ensemble.

Family Welfare Proposes Club For Aged Citizens

E. H. Wilson, president of the Family Welfare Association, reported on the work of the committee dealing with the proposed Aged Citizens' Club. This committee, including Miss Sara Spencer, E. H. Wilson, Charles Chivers, Mrs. Ann I. Spurgin, Ord Butters and F. E. Winslow, was asked to go fully into this matter.

An increase in financial assistance was shown in the report given by N. F. Ferris.

Owing to the increase in the number of cases appealing to the agency for help, it had been found necessary to enlarge the office space, Mrs. Spurgin reported. Alterations are under consideration which would give added accommodation to the Family Welfare Association and the Children's Aid Society.

Psychiatric service for Greater Victoria were discussed. Ord Butters reported redecoration of the cabins and other buildings at Sunshine Camp. A report of the meeting of the Youth Commission was given by Mrs. Spurgin. It was planned that Mrs. G. Hughes, staff member, would outline the work of the agency to a girls' club meeting in the Y.W.C.A., Monday. R. D. McKenzie and Ord Butters volunteered to assist the general secretary in working out the 1945 budget.

Miss Laura Holland was a guest at the meeting.

Frances Biggin Wed in Cristobal

Black lace mantilla, crayon blue afternoon frock and black accessories were chosen by Frances Mary Biggin for her marriage to Paymaster Lt.-Cmdr. Edmund Owen John Woodward at Cristobal, Canal Zone, June 8, at 7.30.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert William Biggin, 2511 Cranmer Road, and the groom is the son of Mr. Owen Ernest Woodward and the late Mrs. Ada Mary Woodward of Woodford Green, Essex, England.

She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids, while her street-length dress, fashioned on simple lines, was marked with blue beading at the pockets. Cmdr. R. N. Taylor, R.N.R., gave the bride in marriage and the ceremony was attended by close friends of the couple from the naval colony stationed in the canal zone.

Afterwards Paymaster Lt.-Cmdr. Woodward and his bride left for a wedding trip to the United States, visiting Miami Beach, New York and Washington, D.C.

ENVIRONMENT VITAL IN LOVE

Recently there appeared a cynically amusing cartoon in the papers showing a returning soldier presenting his Eskimo bride to his astonished parents, with the explanation: "Well, she looked all right in Alaska."

We smiled as we thought of a husband trying to fit that incongruous little figure into the streamlined pattern of sophisticated society, but there was a heartache underneath our mirth because we had seen so many youngsters marry girls and boys who were glamorous against their own background, but who were grotesque in the surroundings to which they were transplanted. And we remembered the tragedy it was to both.

Being Mr. Speaker In B.C. No Easy Task

By JAMES K. NESBITT

Valuable addition to British Columbia's historic journals and official papers—Volume 3. Decisions of the Speakers of the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia, from 1931 to 1943, reported by W. H. Langley, K.C., who has just retired as clerk of the House, has just been published by the King's Printer, Victoria.

To future Speakers of the Legislature this little black book, with its gold cover lettering, will be of inestimable value, for every time Mr. Speaker of the days to come has a knotty problem—and such problems, crop up frequently—he will refer to the decisions of the three Speakers in Volume 3. Mr. Speaker C. F. Davie, K.C., Mr. Speaker H. G. T. Perry, and Mr. Speaker Norman W. Whittaker, K.C.

Decisions of B.C. Speakers duly recorded for future reference, are binding on subsequent Speakers, subject, of course, to alteration by the House, for the legislators themselves are always supreme and can override decisions of the Speaker. This, however, doesn't often happen, for it is seldom Speakers' decisions displease the government, which always has a majority of the members.

FOR OPPOSITION

While on this point, it is interesting to note that in Volume 3 are several instances where Speakers have decided in favor of Opposition members. There is a thought abroad that Speakers, being chosen by the government from among its own members, always decide for the government. This is not so, as may be seen from a study of the new volume.

In 1936, as an example, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves of the C.C.F. wanted higher scales of relief paid. T. D. Pattullo, then Premier, objected to her resolution, on the ground that it involved expenditure of public money. Mr. Speaker Perry said that, in his opinion, the motion did not necessarily involve such expenditure, and he ruled the motion in order. The matter was discussed, against the wishes of the government.

In 1942 Attorney-General Maitland protested discussion of an Opposition resolution asking the government to appoint permanent district crown prosecutors. Mr. Maitland said that motion was out of order on two grounds, that it would involve expenditure of government money and that it dictated government policy. Mr. Speaker Whittaker ruled in favor of the Opposition and against the Attorney-General.

Again, in 1943, the two Witches wished to discuss Government House, asking that it be used for old people. Mr. Pattullo rule or decision of the House of Commons at Ottawa conflicts with the British procedure, we would follow the British.

The Speaker represents the dignity of the House; he is the one who rules over it, calling it to order, deciding what is right and what is wrong. He may force a member to apologize, although the House itself could decide the member in question need not apologize.

NO SPEECH MAKER

The Speaker has no right to sit at a cabinet meeting, and never does; he is not a member of the cabinet, as many people seem to think. He never makes a speech for his constituents, but he has constituents, being elected like any other member of the House. He is usually the most silent man in the chamber, he listens, but seldom talks. He is the only member who "dresses up"—he wears a long black silk robe and a black three-cornered hat. He has a casting vote, for use in a deadlock, but this has seldom been used in B.C., certainly not since the days of party government.

Of these men who have been Speakers, only a few are living today. Hon. A. M. Manson, after he had been Speaker, became Attorney-General and is now a justice of the B.C. Supreme Court; Hon. F. A. Pauline became Agent-General for British Columbia in London and is now living in retirement here; Hon. C. F. Davie is practicing law in Dawson, and Hon. H. G. T. Perry is Minister of Education and

Sees Big Mine Boom

Peter W. Bell, director of H. A. Humber Ltd., has returned from the mining area of northern Quebec, where he was a guest of James B. Redpath of Victoria, who for the past ten years has been mine superintendent of the Sigma Mines at Val d'Or, Quebec. Properties visited by Mr. Bell include the Harricana, Aumaque and the molybdenum mine at Preissac, Que. He viewed diamond drilling operations on different properties in the Bourlameque district and was present at the time that Sigma mines were pouring three gold bricks. Spending three hours 2,000 feet underground with the Sigma mine captain, George Schmeltz, Mr. Bell said he saw every phase of mining.

Leaving Val d'Or, Mr. Bell went to Noranda, then to Toronto as a guest of R. R. Bongard, president of Bongard & Co., the only firm possessing a trans-Canada brokerage wire. "The trip was a real education in every way, and in the opinion of the east a tremendous boom in mining is now getting well underway," said Mr. Bell.

Many Pay Tribute To P. W. W. Bell

Final tribute was paid to the late Peter Warren Wentworth Bell by friends and business associates at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Mr. Bell passed away Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital after an illness of several months. Canon Chadwick officiated at the funeral services and the body was laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The late Mr. Bell was born in 1873 at Goderich, Ont., the son of a Hudson's Bay factor. He received his early education at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and graduated from the Royal Military College. Going to the Boer War, in 1900 he saw action in many parts of South Africa. At the conclusion of hostilities, he was employed as a civil engineer on part of what is now the Cape of Cairo Railway. Married in South Africa, Mr. Bell returned to Canada in 1906 and acted in the capacity of district engineer on the construction of the transcontinental railway, then as engineer in charge of a section of the Banff Windermere Highway until 1914.

Bell in 1917 went to Canton, China, as vice-president of the Pacific Construction Co. and designed plans for the construction of a street railway around the wall of Canton. Outbreak of the Chinese revolution caused the work to stop and for a short time he was employed by the Chinese government as civil engineer. The street railway was later built on his plans. Returning from the Orient, Mr. Bell was employed throughout the province by the Department of Public Works, and retired last year as district engineer.

Italy was known in the ancient world as a great producer of crops.

Rodeo Opens July 1 At Willows Ground

With the opening of the spectacular Wild West Show at the Willows, Saturday, July 1, residents of Victoria will have an opportunity of seeing one of the finest displays of horsemanship ever presented in Canada.

Reminiscent of the old wild west show which Buffalo Bill made famous, this performance promises to be packed with excitement and entertainment.

Throughout the daily performances, competition contests will be injected into the program so that riders will be called on to put their best into the show. All performers are first class and, according to manager Harry Shuttleworth, will be in there trying all the time.

Among the feature attractions are Buck Abbott and Ralph Colbeck in a trick riding act; Glen Betts with his wonder horse, "La Paloma"; Red Jackson, the one-armed trick rider; lady bronc riders; the jumping horses, and many more breathtaking acts.

All performers are championship riders, including the women, and have participated in the major rodeos in the western states and Canada.

There will be two performances

Suicide Attempt

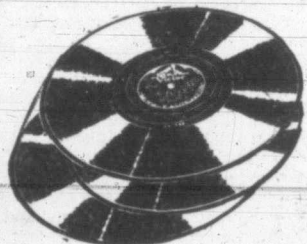

A 68-year-old man is recovering at Royal Jubilee Hospital from the effects of gas poisoning in what city police officers called a suicide attempt.

The man was found at 12.43 in the morning by Steve Berse of the Ideal Rooms lying on a gas stove. He had one jet turned on, but not lit and a blanket over his head. Berse gained entrance to the room through a window from the fire escape.

daily, from July 1 to July 8, at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sales will open one-half hour before the show.

By PETE SALLAWAY

SINCE the perky little jeep first made its appearance as an important part of army equipment in the present war there has been a lot of discussion over its possibilities for civilian use after Hitler and Tojo have been dealt with. Many experts have come forth with the opinion the jeep will hold no place in civilian use while others have argued in its favor.

HARRY GRAYSON, noted United States sports writer and a regular correspondent to this paper, has come forth with an interesting article on the many uses the jeep may be put to after the war. He writes as follows:

"Once the fabulous jeep cleans up its many wartime chores, it's a cinch to crash the sports picture.

"Dispatches from the Italian front tell of GI's bagging more than 100 birds using one of the diminutive scout cars to flush coveys. From England comes the story of a jeep-load of yelping Americans riding to the hounds as uninvited guests and outdistancing British cousins toward the bushy-tailed quarry.

THE BOYS who are expert in the use of a quack, the jeep's amphibious brother, see its possibilities as a duck-hunting vehicle which will take them from their doorstep to not only a blind but out on the lake to retrieve. Much equipment will be converted to sports use when the war is won. Reconnaissance planes like Piper cubs for sports flying. Gliders. Landing craft for deep sea fishing, houseboats, excursions. Patrol boats as cabin cruisers. Nissen huts for cottages along lakes and streams and camping, all types of tents for hunters and campers. They've already patterned sports jackets, etc., after service uniforms. There will be hunting boots for all. And the angler will cast in greater comfort, newly-developed insecticides moustereading the mosquito, silencing the bug barrage.

PROPRIETORS of hunting lodges are of the opinion that the jeep is the long-awaited magic carpet to reach shooting boxes in the scrub, Florida everglades or on the rocky slopes of a mountain where the game is easy and the distance long. Traction is all that is required. Fishermen want the jeep to help reach far-back streams and isolated lakes, speak hopefully of no more smashed oil-pans and caved-in fenders on wilderness roads.

"Dr. Clarence W. Spears, now coaching Maryland, hit upon the jeep as an efficient device to develop a hard-charging line. Borrowing an experimental model, Fat Spears lashed a four-by-eight plank to the front bumper, and from the driver's seat cautioned his athletes to push low and hard if they didn't want to be run over. Even if the snub-nosed vehicle doesn't find itself on practice fields, it will be in evidence in parking lots outside football stadia.

GENE SARAZEN, the golfer, has put in a request for the first civilian jeep turned out by Willys-Overland Motors, where Ward M. Canada, president of the company, directed the development of the buzz-wagon. Sarazen wants it for his Connecticut dairy farm. Tests show that the scout car can be employed as an efficient four-purpose substitute for the horse, tractor, independent power unit and light truck. It has been found highly useful in harrowing, plowing and other field work.

"Ranchers visualize the jeep herding cattle and riding fences, even participating in rodeos."

War Changes Buying Habits of Smokers

Imported Mixtures Replaced by Canadian Product

War restrictions are causing many changes in the buying habits of Canadians and many of these changes will be distinctly beneficial to this country's economy when peace comes, according to a statement made by a marketing authority recently. He gave as one reason that many "quality" products which Canadian buyers assumed must be imported are now found to be made just as well here in Canada.

High class smoking mixtures are a case in point. Before the war, a large class of cultivated smokers insisted on certain imported brands. Since then the supply of these has been cut off by wartime import restrictions. This has caused these smokers to investigate Canadian-made mixtures. Many of them have found that Piccadilly "London" Smoking Mixture suits their taste just as well if not better. And it has the additional advantage of being distinctly lower in price as it does not have to carry the cost of importation. Tobaccoists who have exhausted their supplies of imported brands are enlightening their patrons of the fact that Piccadilly is made from the finest of the world's pipe tobaccos made up in Canada closely in the famous London tradition. These smokers will doubtless continue to enjoy the marked savings and excellencies of this well-established brand long after the war is over.

record, and the victory put Williams high among the current lightweight battlers.

Women Golfers Get Smart

By SYD THOMAS.
TORONTO (CP)—The one sure way to defeat the weather's vagaries—and there have been plenty of them this year—apparently was discovered by two female golfers in Edmonton. They got tired waiting for the rains to stop, so donned bathing suits and held forth to the fairways, splashing merrily along the soggy greens.

We didn't hear how they made out or what their scores were, but imagine they had a heap of fun. They stole a march on the other golfers anyway, since they were practically the only people who played golf all week in the Edmonton area, opined George Mackintosh in the Edmonton Journal.

The thing opens up great possibilities, though. Who knows but what those hardy she-westers may come up with a brand new game of water-golf or such like that will revolutionize the ancient pastime.

Gridiron Immortals Meet

Immortals of the gridiron two all-time all-American football stars are shown as they met in Chicago recently for the first time in many years. Football opponents of the twenties, Jim Thorpe, left, is ranked as the greatest all-round athlete of all time. Harold (Red) Grange starred in the backfield of Illinois.

Navy Wins Wild Ball Game

Baseball fans who like to see lots of runs and base hits, got their fill at the local ball park Friday night as the Navy won a game against the Eagles 16-11. It was a game that produced everything but good baseball. Just to make matters that much more interesting the clubs threw in 13 errors, with the loquacious responsible for nine.

Victory bolstered the Navy's hold on second spot and dropped the Eagles deeper in the cellar. Both clubs came up with changes in their line-up. Ken Van Hatten made his first appearance with the Navy, holding down second base in place of Ted Parkins, while Charlie Restall was out in uniform for the first time in right field for the Eagles.

Clubs were on the field for two hours and eight minutes, and were only able to struggle through seven innings when darkness stepped in and ended the affair.

Four pitchers paraded to the mound during the evening. Two for each club. Jimmy Ingamells started for the Navy, but left for the showers in the fifth, after giving up eight runs and 11 hits. Ingamells had control trouble, while the Eagles took to his offerings like long-lost brothers. Jimmy Crosato took over and held the lodgement to three runs and six hits.

BRUCE HITS HOMER

Bobby Prior started in the box for the Eagles, but left in the fourth, after being charged with eight runs and six hits, while he walked six. Gil Bruce's home run over the centre field fence, with two men on, was the signal for Prior's departure to the bench. Lefty Medavsky, former hurler of the Army club, was the reliever in his first showing this year. Medavsky got along nicely until the seventh, when the Navy started to hunt the ball and, like last season, the southpaw looked terribly weak trying to field the ball, making a couple of wild heaves to the bases. Before the Navy had been retired, six more runs had drifted across the rubber, and that was the game.

Eagles brought the fans to their feet in the fifth when they put together six hits and, with the aid of a couple of errors, scored eight runs to take an 11 to 8 margin. Navy came back with two runs in the sixth, and then wound up in a blaze of glory with those six markers in the seventh.

Short score follows: R. H. E.
Navy 16 13 4
Eagles 11 14 9
Batteries—Ingamells, Crosato and Sparrow; Prior, Medavsky and Maitland.

Red Durrett Tops International Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Elmer (Red) Durrett, Montreal's outfielder, is today the No. 1 batter in the International League. The ex-marine, who spent 10 months in a hospital recovering from wounds suffered in fighting at Guadalcanal, fought his way to the top this week with an sensational spree of 11 hits in 19 times at bat.

Five doubles, a triple and a home run marked the surge as Durrett hoisted his season's average to .349 to displace Chico Rodriguez with .322.

SETS TRACK RECORD

CHICAGO (AP)—Free For All, owned by John March, Chicago contractor, smashed the track record for five and one-half furlongs in winning the $10,000 added Hyde Park Stakes by five lengths at Arlington Park Wednesday. Free For All covered the distance in 1:04.35 and returned $3.40 to win. Free For All paid $3.40 for $2. Don Ameche's Sir Blm was second and Henry Tikulski's Icangett third.

Stirnweiss In Star Role for Yankees

George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss, second baseman of the New York Yankees, not only has filled the shoes of Joe Gordon to everybody's satisfaction, but is stealing everything in sight with them.

Stirnweiss was responsible for all his team's runs, besides pilfering his 16th base in 15 attempts, as the Yankees defeated the Philadelphia A's 5 to 1. This victory enabled the Yankees to climb into a tie for third place with the Chicago White Sox.

Stirnweiss made three hits, including a double, drove in three runs and scored the other two. One of his tallies resulted from his steal in the third inning, and it was the 14th time he had scored by a steal.

Sigmund Jakucki hurried his second successive shutout against Detroit to give the league-leading St. Louis Browns a 5 to 0 victory. He blanked the Tigers by the identical score last Saturday. Vernon Stephens knocked in three runs for the Browns with a trio of hits.

Cleveland climbed into a three-way tie for sixth place with Philadelphia and Washington by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 1. The Senators dropped the Boston Red Sox to three games from first place by scoring an easy 7 to 1 triumph over Joe Cronin's men.

Ed Head, sore-arm Brooklyn Dodger hurler, pitched his fourth victory of the season without a defeat when he held the Philadelphia Phillies to two hits in blanking them 2 to 0. The victory put Brooklyn into a third place tie with the Cincinnati Reds. Charlie Letchus, Philly second baseman, made both hits.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh battled 14 innings to a 5 to 5 tie in a game called by curfew. Each team used five pitchers. Twenty players were used by the Cards and 18 by the Pirates.

The Chicago Cubs handed the Reds their fourth straight defeat, scoring twice in the opening stanza, to win 3 to 1. Hank Wyse outpitched no-hit Clyde Shoun to rack up his fifth win of the year.

COAST LEAGUE

Sacramento did some more slugging from the cellar of the Coast League last night, taking the third game out of four in the current series with the first place San Francisco Seals, 2 to 1.

Portland moved into a second place tie with Seattle knocking Los Angeles into seventh spot in a contest so full of errors that the fans started booing. The Beavers won 15 to 6, on 19 hits, and committed four errors to five for Los Angeles.

San Diego pulled into a percentage tie with fourth place Hollywood, beating the Stars 2 to 1 in the tightest game of the night.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New Four-State Bloc to Dominate Boxing in East

By HUGH FULLERTON
NEW YORK (AP)—Folks who have long complained about the domination of boxing by New York (and Mike Jacobs) may do some real beefing about the new four-state flistic "bloc."

Officially there's nothing more than working agreements linking New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New Jersey, calling for recognition of suspensions and the like, but chairman John J. Phelan of the New York Commission hints that he has some fresh ammunition to fire in his old feud with Abe Greene and the National Boxing Association... and he may be right. Champions Gus Lesnevich and Red Cochrane live in New Jersey, while Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Beau Jack, Bob Montgomery, Willie Pep and a few others have found they can make the most dough in those four states... California and Illinois are the only outsiders that count for much, Phelan points out... But he also admits these agreements are always being made—and broken to suit someone's convenience.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Red Trautman's high school postwar committee has accepted an invitation from three state high school associations to provide some tutoring for baseball coaches in August. Lew Fonseca will be the American League's representative on the faculty and Pie Traynor the National's.

SERVICE DEPT.

Navy Lieut. Joe Stydahar, the Chicago Bears' four-time All-National League tackle, is a bit annoyed by rumors that he has been awarded the Silver Star... "I'll wear it, brother—even on my pyjamas," Stydahar is commander of an armed guard crew on a tanker.

Organize Minor Ball Leagues Tomorrow

Organization meeting for midget, juvenile and junior baseball teams will be held Sunday morning at the Athletic Park at 10.30. All clubs interested in playing are asked to have representatives present.

Last season 10 clubs participated and the officials are looking for just as big an entry this year.

Portland Enters Pro Football Ranks

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The traditional rivalry between Portland and Seattle moves into the professional football field this fall.

Portland entered the pay-for-play gridiron ranks Saturday when Henry J. Sandberg, northwest hockey sportsman, announced purchase of a franchise in the new American Professional Football League which also includes Seattle, San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego, Hollywood and two Los Angeles entries.

The Portland entry will be operated by local businessmen with Sfdberg as president and Bobby Rowe, former owner of the Portland Pacific Coast Hockey League club, as business manager.

B.C. Fire Insurance

Best Plan, Says Mayor

Edmonton municipal fire insurance plans discussed by the Canadian Federation of Mayors at Montreal are not up to those evolved by Councilor O. L. Jones, Kelowna, Mayor Andrew McGavin said today in comment on matters considered by the national civic leaders at their conference.

The Edmonton proposal had been given considerable thought, but was not as wide as that proposed by the B.C. man, the mayor stated.

Housing matters occupied considerable time, Mayor McGavin said, adding valuable information and suggestions on a program for Canada after the war had been presented by C. A.

Curtis of Queens University. Further postwar material had featured an address on "The Challenge of the Peace" by Mayor Wilson W. Wyatt, of Louisville, Ky.

Harold S. Buttenheim, editor of American City, presented useful data on town planning in an address entitled "The City that Might Be."

F. J. Conboy, mayor of Toronto, was named president and that city was chosen for next year's conference. Mayor McGavin, who served on a committee to name future convention venues, said his efforts to have it held in Winnipeg or Vancouver might bear fruit when the 1946 election was chosen. All B.C.'s 12 resolutions had been endorsed, the mayor added. Of the 290 mayors attending,

On Being a Real Person . . . Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick

Face-Savers Always Condemn Sins of Others, Ignore Own

AS Emerson said, "That which we call sin in others is experiment for us."

Where others lie, we are clever; where others cheat, we are shrewd and canny; where others are bad-tempered, we are righteously indignant; judging others, we would call their conduct selfish; judging ourselves, we call it practical.

Nowhere is this manipulation of names to avoid self-blame more frequent than in the sexual realm. Many a woman who, judging others, would call what they are doing downright adultery, when judging herself calls it idealistic romance. All of us are tempted to act on emotion or self-interest and then call what we have done by the best name possible.

In personal relationships this alibi-habit commonly takes the form of face-saving. One of the deepest impulses in human life is self-defence. Without it the race could not have survived. Nevertheless, its perversions are notorious. We do not wish to be put in the wrong; face-saving becomes the primary concern in all cases of personal conflict, and almost automatically we throw the blame on others in order to protect ourselves.

When God charged Adam with disobedience in eating the apple, Adam said, "The woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat." When God accused the woman, she said, "The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat." What we call "passing the buck" is an ancient process.

Modern psychology has a word for this, "projection." We accuse others of the faults and follies

we are most tempted to ourselves. The bully thinks the world is full of bullies; the debauchee thinks hardly anybody decent; the liar says all men are liars. One of the simplest ways of avoiding unhappy criticism of our own faults is to discover and denounce similar shortcomings in others. Or we defend ourselves by charging others not with the same delinquencies we are guilty of, but with attitudes that explain, excuse, and justify our own. From an inflexible father who always can discover in the children plenty to excuse his petulant temper, to a paranoiac who sees in others threats of violence that justify his own violent desires, the face-savers find scapegoats everywhere.

In few ways, therefore, do men more clearly reveal themselves than in their characteristic condemnation of others. This explains certain types of fanatical reformers who try to clean up the world in the very areas where they never have been able to clean up themselves; it explains a good deal of prudishness and censoriousness where people cover up their own suppressed difficulties by holy wrath against others' sins in the same realm; and it explains a large number of people who

Compound for Sins, they are inclined to: By damning those they have no mind to, Jesus' ethic is founded on sound psychology: "Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged. . . . And why holdest thou that mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?"

Book of Daniel Philosophic Guide To Satisfaction of Temperance

Text Daniel 1:1-16, 19, 20

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

THIS is the international temperance lesson, and it puts emphasis upon temperate living as well as upon abstinence from strong drink. The Bible teaches temperance by example as well as by precept, and a great figure in this teaching by example is Daniel. He is set before us as a perfect example of strength through right living, and as a man endowed with power because he was wholly consecrated to the will of God; and his might in courage because of the love of God and devotion to His service had cast out all fear.

I am not concerned here with the critical questions that have divided scholars regarding the nature of the Book of Daniel. Literalists insist upon the historical accuracy of every detail, while liberal interpreters pointing to its late date as a Hebrew writing, and its late acceptance into the canon of the Old Testament, insist that it is an apocalyptic book, like the Book of Revelation in the New Testament, written in times of dire persecution to encourage the servants of God to stand firm in their faith.

The moral and spiritual realities the Book, the strength and nobility of the great character, Daniel, that it portrays, are not bound up with controversial opinions; and it is these realities with which we are concerned. Surely it is an impressive fact that in all the records of Scripture when an individual or a group of men had a great task to perform or some special obligation resting upon them, they are always represented as being under discipline, and in most instances abstinence from strong drink was an essential part of the discipline.

We are challenged with the question whether the Bible is a good guide or not. The effect of a great deal that is written and said today is to challenge its authority and its realism in what it has to say about temperance and simple, wholesome living. But the real question concerning this and a great deal more in the life of our times is whether Daniel offers a really noble and desirable way of life and good character. Which standard are we going to set up for youth?

The fact is that for many people today, both young and old, liquor and much that accompanies it constitutes an escape, and their practical philosophy of life is an escapist philosophy. They are chasing after things that have no real happiness in them. Jesus looked in pity upon similar people in His day, as He said, "Ye will not come unto Me, that ye might have life."

From practical observation as well as from sound philosophy of life I stand for and advocate the Daniel way. It is the way of courage, and I am sure that it is the way of strength and the way that offers the surest, solidest, most lasting satisfactions.

Wilby in Jail Awaits Appeal Judgment

RALPH M. WILBY

In the city lock-up here awaiting the judgment of Judge Coady on a third application for a habeas corpus writ is Ralph M. Wilby, 39-year-old former accountant of the William T. Knott Corp., wanted in New York City to face 17 grand jury charges involving $275,084. Wilby has now been in Victoria since March 12 when he was arrested at a hotel by city detectives for the New York police department. His extradition to U.S. has been the topic of six court hearings to date.

Salvation Officers Leaving Next Week

Capt. and Mrs. F. Pierce, commanding officers of the Victoria West Corps of the Salvation Army, who came to Victoria in 1942, have received farewell orders and will leave Victoria next week.

Their new field of service will be the command of Vernon Corps. Maj. Mae Young and Adj. F. Hillier will succeed Capt. and Mrs. Pierce at Victoria West. Farewell meetings will be held at 11 and 7:30 Sunday at the Catherine Street hall.

Goes to England

Dr. Helen Stewart, former Victoria City librarian, who later organized B.C.'s union library service, has gone to England to discuss with the Colonial Office library facilities for Trinidad, where she has been stationed the last four years for the Carnegie Foundation.

Miss Nora Bateson, who assistant Dr. Stewart in the Fraser Valley library service, has gone to Jamaica to do similar work for the Carnegie Foundation.

Camping Out This Summer?

But not by choice! He neglected that leaky roof and siding for so long, that he's out in the open right in his own house, every time it rains! That's the worst of work shingles; you let them go and then pretty soon you discover you need a whole new roofing and siding job, not to mention repairs to your walls and ceilings as a result of water damage.

We have Asbestos Shingles for a small repair and for a complete reshingling job.

Mayor Urges Voters Back Empress By-law

Mayor Andrew McGavin today appealed to property owners to vote Monday for the by-law granting fixed taxation to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company on the Empress Hotel property.

He noted the company, under the new agreement, would pay $34,000 a year for 20 years instead of $10,000 as heretofore. Full water rates and all other usual license fees would be paid by the company, he said.

"It is difficult," said the mayor, "to imagine what the City of Victoria would be without stately Empress Hotel. The social life of the city has centred round this hotel ever since it was built, and it has a world-wide reputation for the excellence of its service and the outstanding beauty of its surroundings. I think every citizen takes a quiet pride in this fine building."

"It should also be remembered that if this by-law is approved the company will continue the operation of the Crystal Garden that now means so much to the young people of this community. There isn't a finer swimming pool on the continent than the pool in the Crystal Garden, and whatever a person may think about the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, this company has set a standard for public service which cannot be beaten anywhere in the world."

"I hope the by-law will receive the overwhelming approval of the taxpayers."

Victoria Leads Building Figures

With 21 permits issued for work of a total value of $33,215, the city led building activity in the Greater Victoria area this week, figures released by the various municipal departments today disclosed.

All told, civilian construction amounted to $65,385, including $16,980 from Saanich, $9,450 from Oak Bay and $5,750 from Esquimalt.

Three new dwellings were included in the city total. In addition, two major alterations were listed and two storage sheds started.

Five new homes valued at $13,950 were among 13 projects started in Saanich. The dwellings include: Five-room, $4,200 house on Inlet Ave.; five-room, $3,200 house on Sinclair Rd.; four-room, $2,800 house on Holmes Ave.; four-room, $2,000 house on Cordova Bay Rd.; and two-room, $750 house on Del Monte Ave.

Oak Bay issued two building permits. One a five-room house at 2246 Beach Drive, valued at $5,750; the second for a five-room house at 2095 Oak Bay Ave.

In Esquimalt three permits were granted, one for a $4,250 home.

2 Island Soldiers In 12-hour Tank Battle

An account of a violent tank battle in which a squadron of Shermans of the B.C. Dragoons slugged it out for 12 hours May 25 on the Italian front was told today in Canadian Press dispatches.

From 8.30 in the morning until 8 at night the squadron never left its Shermans, was under almost constant fire and saw eight of its tanks go up in flames. It was credited with destroying two Nazi tanks and four anti-tank guns while advancing to buttress a bridgehead across the Melfa River.

At least one Vancouver Island officer and sergeant took part in the 12-hour battle. They were Lieut. Dick Sellers of Victoria and Sgt. R. Robertson, Cowichan Station.

City Will Test New Garbage Plan

The garbage disposal system advocated by E. L. Tait will be tried for a day, Ald. Ed Williams, chairman of the city's public works committee, announced following a meeting of that body Friday afternoon.

The plan calls for crushing of cans, ashes and bottles and use of that material as filler. The perishable refuse would be placed in a compost heap, treated and used as fertilizer.

The committee recommended to the city council it designate the portion of Marine Drive within the city as a secondary highway. Oak Bay will be given a copy of the resolution and asked to support it. The latter municipality recently had its section of the drive classified as a secondary highway.

A letter from R. Noble, complaining of litter on city beaches, drew a statement from the city engineer to the effect the tins and other refuse came mainly from ships.

In Police Court

Charles William Campbell, now serving six months for false pretences, today was sentenced to three months hard labor by Magistrate H. C. Hall on a charge of passing a worthless cheque. The new sentence will begin at the end of the present term.

Five motorists paid $2.50 parking fines.

In Saanich Court today a 78-year-old Hindu was found guilty of being drunk Friday on Davida Street. He was sentenced to 20 days at Oakalla, this being his third conviction for intoxication.

Jewelry valued at $55 was missing from her home since moving, Mrs. M. McCann, 1623 Richmond, told city police Friday. P. McDonald reported a stove stolen from a trailer. Miss P. Clegg, 803 Hillside, complained of boys stealing cherries.

Symphony Society Completes Year

Fulfilling its desire to be self-supporting, the Victoria Symphony Society ended its season at a meeting at the Royal Trust Company. Miss Sara Spencer, president, presided. The financial facts of the three concerts held during the year were given. S. J. D. Cack, treasurer, announced that all the accounts had been met except for heavy expenses in connection with the stage fixtures, which are now permanent assets.

Initial concerts were held at the Empress Hotel and the three last year were held at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

Melvin Knudsen was congratulated on his contribution to the success of the orchestra as the conductor. He said he was sure that the symphony was now here to stay. A discussion was held as to the kind of music the public wanted and a questionnaire will be sent out in September asking for suggestions.

Three concerts will be held. One will be a combined symphonic and choral arrangement. Resignation of Miss Mary Campbell, honorary secretary, was received with regret. Miss Campbell had held that position for the past two years.

Shawnigan Mill Site Rent Appealed Here

Judge Bruce Boyd in rent court Friday reserved judgment on an application for reduced rental on the Shawnigan Lake mill site. Inspection of which he made later in the day.

The tenant appeals a $200 a month figure set by the owner and approved by Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials. He contends he leased the property in 1934 at $20 a month, but was refused renewal under those terms. At present, he says, he cannot move owing to pressure of war orders.

The owner justified the new rental on the grounds it represented but a fraction of returns, that the low rent had been agreed upon 10 years ago, and that a right of way concession had entered into the arrangement.

Both parties were asked to submit briefs.

Decisions were also reserved on an application for a notice to vacate premises at Ganges and on an appeal to have rent on another property raised $10 a month above the figure fixed by the appraiser.

Rose Show Prizes For Fine Blooms

Grand aggregate award at the Victoria Horticultural Society's June rose show at the Crystal Garden went to Mrs. Angus McKay, this being the second time this year she has won it.

Trophy for champion rose in the show was awarded to H. F. Willsher, with a beautiful specimen of "Shot Silk."

R. A. Nicholson Trophy for the best exhibit in the cut flower section went to Mrs. W. E. A. Barclay.

H. O. Simpson, former president of the society, took the highest award for six exhibition roses of six distinct varieties, and H. F. Willsher for the class of six exhibition roses, one variety. Mr. Willsher also won for garden blooms containing six blooms in two varieties. Other trophies in the rose section were awarded to Fred Taylor and Mrs. E. S. Michell.

The show will conclude this evening with an auction of cut flowers.

Wins Reeve's Prize

A gold watch, Reeve's prize for the best all-round student in the graduating class and instituted for the first time this year, was presented to Marie Gillard, Grade 8 graduate of Lampson Street School by Reeve Thomas Hadfield, instructor of the prize, at the school's closing exercises Friday. Benjamin Caley, school board chairman, presided.

Chevrans were presented to a number of students for ability in sports and other activities. The chevrons will be worn with the school badge. Presentation was also made of over 80 prizes awarded by the school board.

Next September, presentation will be made of the Women's Institute medal and the I.O.D.E. prize for the first and second-ranking graduates.

A musical program was presented under the direction of H. J. Bigsby, in which Kathleen McIntyre sang a solo, Lois Heaton sang a solo, accompanied by the girls' choir, and Howard Goodell played a cornet solo.

Victoria District 9—A further lecture on blitz first aid will be given by Mr. Sellers at a night's meeting at 8 Monday night at the Britannia Hall. All members are asked to take bandages with them.

Newsman Attending Conference Here

Seattle newspapermen will be among U.S. delegates attending the Pacific Northwest Trades Association Conference to be held here Monday and Tuesday.

They will include Miller Freeman, publisher of the Miller Freeman Publications, and Nard Jones of the same firm; Charles Lindeman, publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer; and Doug Welch of the same paper; Howard Parrish, publisher of the Seattle Star, and Paul O'Neal, staff writer, Time Incorporated.

R.C.A.F. Mercy Flight Saves Boy's Life

Little Gordon Davidson, 4½, Alert Bay, suffering from acute appendicitis, probably owes his life to the alert crew of an R.C.A.F. transport amphibian which was diverted from its course to carry him to hospital at Courtenay.

Listening in on the radio as the transport with a full load of passengers was southbound Friday morning, Ftl. Sgt. D. McDonald picked up a call for assistance. Pilot W. R. K. Kimmerly and co-pilot F.O. J. E. Burrows decided the appeal was urgent, turned back, headed for the nearest base to Alert Bay.

There, the father of the stricken boy, a Provincial Police corporal, awaited them. One of the passengers was deplaned, and with the father aboard the plane was quickly flown to Alert Bay. From there the boy and his mother were flown to the nearest base to Courtenay, where little Gordon was immediately operated on in hospital.

Men Overseas Set Postwar Yardstick

"The sacrifices of the young men overseas must be made the yardstick to measure our contribution to postwar Canada," Patrick Conroy, Canadian Congress of Labor secretary-treasurer told the Victoria Labor Council Friday night.

The labor congress, he said, would exercise its economic strength to ensure the government in power would see Canadians had sufficient security to enjoy the decent and dignified of human life.

Mr. Conroy said the increased strength of the congress, with affiliated membership of 300,000 against 50,000 three years ago, should be weighed with a view to conditions which might exist after the war.

He pointed to the part unions could play as constructive social agencies making a definite contribution to general welfare.

The intelligence of workers, he said, had developed during the war years and they were aware of the fact poverty was not necessarily the result of an act of God.

Mr. Conroy termed P.C. 1003, which establishes the new labor code, the recognition of a principle and said it should be neither completely approved nor completely denounced.

In postwar years he saw two alternatives—a return to prewar conditions or continued high production based on the lessons learned during the war. No wise, satisfactory precautions were known to the public which would guarantee a possible 2,000,000 people employment at the end of hostilities, he said.

He emphasized the realistic view trades unions took of the future in which they wanted security on and off the job.

Speaking of a trip to Britain some months ago, he referred to the losses suffered by a Canadian bomber squadron he had visited and called for a program which would assure the men overseas a satisfactory country in which to live when they returned.

Daniel O'Brien, B.C. regional director of the congress, outlined progress made in the province. Robert Noble was chairman.

Ian Galliford To Go to Aurora

Ian A. Galliford, A.T.C.M., has accepted a position as organist and music master of St. Andrew's College in Aurora, Ont.

Mr. Galliford has been organist and choirmaster of St. John's Church since 1941 and conductor of the Victoria Choral Union, his resignation will become effective at the end of July. He has been active in St. John's Church for many years and studied music here. He is an associate of the American Organists and a member of the Oregon chapter, studying in the United States at various times. A good deal of his instruction was given under the teaching of G. Jennings Burnett, who was his predecessor at St. John's as organist and choirmaster. Later he went to Vancouver where he studied under Frederick Chubb, organist at Christ Church Cathedral.

Mr. Galliford will leave at the beginning of September to take up his new position.

Industries Need More Manpower

Increase in the demand for manpower by shipyard and lumber industries was reported by National Selective Service today.

Manpower summary for the week revealed 740 male vacancies with 290 men available; and 300 female vacancies with 487 women available, of whom 250 were schoolgirls seeking employment during the school holidays.

With 80 per cent of the jobs open for men in essential and war industries, the transfer of men from non-essential to essential work continued, officials said.

During the past week, it was reported 336 men had registered and 290 been placed in suitable employment, of whom 96 were placed in shipyards. An ever-increasing number were being requested for the lumber industry, the report continued.

Of the 290 men available for employment, 140 of them being students, some 120 had been referred to jobs and were expected to be employed by next week officials said.

There were still 170 vacancies reported for women as waitresses or in hotel work.

100 Police Chiefs Expected Tuesday

More than 100 police chiefs from across Canada are expected here for the four-day 39th annual convention of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada, which will be held here, starting next Tuesday.

Registration will get under way Tuesday morning. The first session, Tuesday afternoon, will include call to order by A. H. Cadieux, president of the association, invocations by Bishop J. C. Cody and Maj. Roy McCaughey, a welcome by Mayor Andrew McGavin, and addresses by Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., and Chief Frank Lesley of Prince Albert, Chief J. A. McLellan, Victoria police chief, will greet the delegates.

Wednesday and Thursday addresses will be given by H. Darling, R.C.M.P. superintendent, Ottawa; Michael F. Morrissey, president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Washington, D.C.; Brig.-Gen. D. C. Draper, Toronto chief constable; James Egan, F.B.I. inspector and president of the Pacific Coast International Association of Law Enforcement Officials, Washington, D.C.; Wing Cmdr. E. T. Atherton, deputy provost marshal, R.C.A.F., Ottawa; Magistrate H. C. Hall, K.C., Victoria; Eliot Ness, director, Division of Social Protection, U.S. Security Agency, Washington, D.C.; Lt. Col. D. H. Williams, Chief of V.D. Control Division, Department of Pensions and National Health, Ottawa; James Frippe, R.C.M.P. Superintendent, Vancouver, and William A. Merrill, supervising agent, U.S. Secret Service, San Francisco.

The chiefs during the convention will visit military forts in and around Victoria, and will attend the Victoria City Police Revolver Club annual shoot, dinner and dance, Thursday night.

Ask Province Aid Cottage Homes

A resolution asking the City Council to request provincial government approval for the allocation of $6,300 residuary funds from the 1943 centenary celebration account to a cottage home scheme for aged here, was on file from the city's health and welfare committee today.

The resolution also asks the government to make a supplementary grant of not less than $5,000 for the project.

Council Meets Tuesday

Mayor Andrew McGavin today confirmed plans for a City Council meeting Tuesday afternoon at 3. At the meeting the citizens' arena committee is expected to submit its proposals for the construction of a civic building in writing.

A motion endorsing a Civic Stamp Day, June 30, in the new campaign to concentrate war savings stamps sales on one day each month, was on file for City Council approval today.

Town Topics

A fine display of roses was reported at Beacon Hill Park today by Herb Warren, parks superintendent. The profusion of blooms is expected to attract wide attention this week.

A band concert will be given by the Esquimalt Garrison Band, directed by Bandmaster G. E. Bower, at Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon. The program will include: March, Florentine; overture, Fingal's Cave; waltz, Tales from Vienna Woods; selection, Carmen; tango, Del Prado; dances from Nell Gwynn; country dance, Merry-makers' dance; selection, The Gondoliers; novelty, Pan-Americana and the Regimental March.

Wartime Planning In Film Industry

A new device, recently perfected by M-G-M studio's, to conserve nails, was used to good effect when the sets for the new Clark Gable-Lana Turner film, "Somewhere I'll Find You," being shown at the York Theatre Monday, were constructed.

The nail picker-upper is a magnetic suction machine which makes it possible for lost nails to be found and used again and again. Sets varied with the varying locales of the film, but the same nails that were used in Lana Turner's Greenwich Village bedroom also held together the native huts of Indo-China.

Studios are feeling the pinch of priorities and conservation as other businesses are these days. The film shortage necessitates clever planning. Director Wesley Ruggles solves this problem by rehearsing a scene minus the camera until every word and move of the actors was perfect. By doing this he could film a scene often in but one take.

Training Centre Rebuilt for M.G.M.

One of the largest sets ever constructed on Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's outdoor Lot 3 was erected to represent the Replacement Training Centre at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. The set, including rows of barracks, built in perfect duplication of pictures taken at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, was for the picture, "See Here, Private Hargrove," opening Monday at the Capitol Theatre.

The replacement centre was where Marion Hargrove was stationed when he wrote his best-selling book, and it is the scene of most of the film story. Robert Walker and Donna Reed play the leading roles in the film, directed by Wesley Ruggles. George Haight produced.

Others in the cast are Robert Benchley, Chill Wills, Keenan Wynn as Private Mulvihill, "Bill" Phillips, George O'Farrell Jr. and Donald Curtis.

Blood Runs Cold On 'Lodger' Set

The scene is a drawing room in a middle-class London home. An Audubon carpet, furniture upholstered in orchid brocades with tassels, felt table covers and Staffordshire pottery create the atmosphere.

The film in production is 20th Century-Fox's "The Lodger," brought to the screen from Mrs. Belloc Lowndes' terrifying study of the Jack the Ripper murders, and which opens Monday at the Atlas Theatre.

The stars — Merle Oberon, George Sanders and Laird Cregar — and Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Sara Allgood are all in the scene. The episode is taut and suspenseful. The players go through their lines in keyed-up fashion. The onlookers seem to hold their breath.

DOMINION THEATRE

The controversy between astronomy and astrology provides a hilarious theme for the gay screen comedy, "The Heavenly Body," co-starring Hedy Lamarr and William Powell, which is currently at the Dominion Theatre.

In it Powell plays an astronomy professor, discoverer of a new comet, whose wife, portrayed by Miss Lamarr, becomes interested in astrology when she feels her husband is neglecting her in his preoccupation with his star.

As the professor, Powell in his role sums up the case for the astronomers thus: "Astronomy and astrology may sound alike—but that's all. Astronomy's a science and astrology's a superstition."

CADET THEATRE

The shortage of lumber, metal, greasewood, actors and transport are among the difficulties that face motion picture producers in England today, says Harold Bugget, who directed Robert Donat and Valerie Hobson in M-G-M's "The Adventures of Tartu" for M-G-M in London. The picture is currently at the Cadet Theatre.

Inquiry Discusses Forest Regulation In Public Interest

Complete reversal of the national viewpoint toward the country's forest wealth and need for some governmental control of privately-owned timber lands, was advocated by Major Evan W. Kelley, regional forester of United States Region 1, which includes Northern Idaho, Montana and western South Dakota, at Friday's hearing of the Forest Inquiry, before Mr. Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, royal commissioner.

"We can't afford to go on as a nation as we have gone on in the past," he said speaking of the United States and her forest resources, with particular reference to their importance in time of war. "The country can't afford to allow forests to be treated in such a manner that the nation cannot go to them, in time of emergency."

He said that whatever steps were needed to keep the forests, not only productive, but with good growing stock upon them, should be taken. Owners, he added, should be compensated for any materials that they are forced to leave.

WORKING CIRCLES

He discussed at length, working circles, wherein the government and private land holders are in working co-operation and keeping a mill and community going on a sustained yield basis.

If faced with the problem of a private holder having perhaps 25 per cent of timberland needed for operation of a working circle, who would not enter the working circle, he favored compelling the owner to bring his land into the pool. He added however, that the public should reimburse the owner.

"There would have to be a collateral system of governmental credits; the private owner would get his money, the country would get the timber and the community would continue to live," said Mr. Justice Sloan and Major Kelley voiced his agreement.

In discussing the need for some state or federal control over privately-owned lands as to methods of cutting, Major Kelley said, that he had seen white pine stands entered into for a certain amount of timber when the remainder of the stand still growing, has been ruined by the operation. The state of Idaho, he said had power to regulate privately-owned lands, but had not as yet enforced it. Enforcement he said would rest with the State Board of Land Commissioners and he was of the opinion that they hesitated to use their power because of political reaction.

"It's a straight conflict between public and private interests," Mr. Justice Sloan commented and Major Kelley replied in the affirmative.

When questioned on the closure of small mills, he stated the mill with the greater degree of utilization of the forest product had more to offer the social system, stressing the number of people employed in the manufacturing end of lumber products.

"In my opinion, since I have seen small mills go to the wall so frequently, it is better all round to maintain a plant that is economically sound."

Mr. Justice Sloan had queried him on the point, stating: "There is a trend on the island for big operators from Vancouver to come here and buy up contiguous areas to support their mills. The big operator, or operators, buy up small mills and close them down, such as the Shawinigan Lake mill, and take the timber to Vancouver. There comes your problem of social values."

Major Kelley said that in his country today a mill of the size of the Shawinigan Lake operation would be considered on the borderline. It might survive and it might not, he said.

Earlier in the hearing, Maj.

Kelley told of forest-fire protection in his region, and said that this year 141 men were trained as paratroop fire fighters at Missoula, Montana, headquarters of Region 1. Maj. Gen. Arnold of the U.S. Army Air Forces sent officers to Missoula two and one half years ago, he said, to spend a week with men training to be paratroop fire fighters.

"The officers came from Washington, D.C., and from Fort Benning, Georgia, and took back information on training given at Missoula, and pieces of equipment," Maj. Kelley said. "From that the army developed its parachute corps."

The method of dropping men from the air to fight fires in back areas, he said, had proved successful.

Fire protection in B.C.'s Cranbrook area is inadequate, he told the inquiry, and added that he wondered how the men scattered so thinly throughout the district, for forest-fire protection, could do so well and maintain their high morale. He mentioned inaccessibility, lack of communication and absence of essential facilities. Women lookouts were being used in his region; he said, during the manpower labor shortage.

Complaint of the appropriations for fire fighting was one point on which all who have testified at the inquiry were in agreement, Mr. Justice Sloan commented.

Discussing grazing at the morning hearing, Maj. Kelley said that the Caribou was very badly over-grazed, and advocated strict control of grazing in respect to the amount of stock allowed on the land and grazing season.

Victoria ministers will take part in the noon services of prayer which have been conducted on View Street since the invasion started. Next Friday Dr. A. E. Whitehouse will be in charge and the following week Dr. Hugh A. McLeod.

Eliot Ness, U.S. Director of Social Protection Division, Federal Security Agency and secretary National Advisory Police Committee on Social Protection, who will give an address on "The Social Protection Program" at a meeting of the Council of Social Agencies to be held in the Empress Hotel at 8, Wednesday evening.

Famed Orchestra Coming to York

Fletcher Henderson and his band, who recently hosted the promotional colors of Frederick Eros' Music Corp. over their bandstand, was one of the featured orchestras playing the celebrated junior prom at Yale University in New Haven, Conn., is coming Wednesday to the York Theatre.

Of all the colored band leaders Yale men and their lovely dancing partners love Fletcher Henderson best personally. They are allured by the caperings of shouting Cab Calloway, intrigued by the haunting color schemes of Duke Ellington, invigorated by the melodies of Earl Hines—but none of these has the wide personal following of Fletcher Henderson.

Students crowded the bandstand asking him to play for them intimately and softly a number or two of his vast store of unpublished original compositions, or to inquire about his latest arrangements.

This demonstration is due to the subtle recognizing of the scholarly and gentlemanly background and intellect of this suave, tasteful Atlanta University alumnus, the eldest son of two of the most famous educational pioneers of the colored race.

Front Page Photo Makes Cover Girl

In spite of what the layman may think because of the profuse use of lovely girls for advertisements and illustrations in the nation's magazines, there are actually only about 125 girls in the country who can officially claim to be cover girls, according to Anita Colby, probably the most famous of them all and featured in Columbia's Technicolor musical, "Cover Girl," co-starring Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly and coming Monday to the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. No one, you see, is a cover girl until her picture has appeared on the front page of a magazine.

HOW LABOR* AND FARMERS WOULD VOTE TODAY

*INCLUDES UNION AND NON-UNION SKILLED AND UNSKILLED

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

TORONTO—The recent sweeping C.C.F. victory in the largely agrarian province of Saskatchewan raises many a question for political observers to debate—the 864 question being: "Does the fact that Saskatchewan's farmers voted so strongly C.C.F. reflect the political mood of agriculturalists all over the Dominion?" In other words, can this party now claim to dominate the so-called labor vote and the farm vote as well as a group which, together, represents about three-fifths of the total voting population?

To get the answer, which cannot be obtained from official election returns, the Institute took its most recent national political survey, and separated the votes of laboring men and their families, and of farmers and their families. The labor group includes both skilled and unskilled labor, union and non-union labor.

NO PARTY DOMINATES

The fact emerges from these results that no political party in Canada can claim to dominate the vote of these two occupational groups, in the sense of obtaining a majority of the voting strength in either.

Take the most recent results, for example. The following table shows what percentage of the total farm vote, and what percentage of the total labor vote each of the three major political parties would receive were a national election to be held today:

	Farm Labor	Today
Liberals	40%	28%
Pro. Cons.	34%	22%
C.C.F.	17%	30%
Other parties	9%	20%

Strongest C.C.F. strength lies with organized, or union labor, as the table below, which separates union from non-union labor shows:

	LABOR ONLY	Today
Liberals	22%	40%
Pro. Cons.	28%	22%
C.C.F.	34%	30%
Other parties	17%	20%

Actually, then, non-union labor is more inclined to support the Liberal party than it is the C.C.F.

On the farm, the C.C.F. figure is reduced somewhat by the fact that Quebec farmers are more inclined to support either the Liberal party or the Bloc Populaire Canadien. Moreover, in the past few months, Canadian farmers are tending more towards the two old-line parties. Evidence of this fact is provided in this table, which compares the way the farmer would have voted back in September, with the way he would vote today:

	FARM VOTE ONLY	Sept. 1943	Today
Liberals	22%	28%	40%
Pro. Cons.	28%	22%	22%
C.C.F.	34%	30%	30%
Other parties	17%	20%	20%

The C.C.F. has likewise lost strength in the ranks of labor since last September, dropping off five percentage points in union labor and six points among non-union labor.

These changes in the voting mood of farm and labor are, of course, reflected in national figures of the entire Canadian voting population. In all occupational groups, both old-line parties have made some gains and the C.C.F., in spite of local triumphs, has lost proportionately, nationally. This final table tells the story:

	ALL VOTERS	Sept. 1943	Today
Liberals	28%	28%	35%
Pro. Cons.	28%	28%	25%
C.C.F.	28%	28%	31%
Other parties	17%	17%	10%

T.C.A. After War Will Organize Trans-Pacific Service From Here

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Templeton, manager of Vancouver airport, said Friday officials of Trans-Canada Air Lines plan to start organizing a trans-Pacific service out of Vancouver as soon as the war is over. Mr. Templeton, who has just returned from a tour of T.C.A. lines, said it is not likely the Pacific service will be in operation until two years after the war ends.

Score Encroachment By Catholics

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates attending the annual convention of the regular Baptist Churches of British Columbia have passed a resolution deploring "the encroachment on Protestant liberties" by the Roman Catholic Church. The motion claimed Quebec "dominated by the Roman Catholics has to a large extent held back from supporting the British Empire" in the war effort.

Should the masters be convicted, they may be subject to fine and confiscation of the catches and their fishboats.

Appeal Granted In 26-Year-Old Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada has decided H. Hartin of Kaslo may appeal from the latest decision obtained in the B.C. courts by Mrs. Minnie Mead May in her 26-year fight to recover the Gibson mining property.

Mrs. May went to Ottawa some weeks ago to ask Hartin's appeal be dismissed but word has been received by his counsel, P. D. Murphy, that her application has been refused. It is expected the appeal will be heard in October. After Mr. Justice Coady dismissed Mrs. May's latest action against Hartin as trustee of the bankrupt Daybreak Mining Co., she went to the Court of Appeal and succeeded in having his decision reversed. Hartin is asking the Supreme Court of Canada to restore Mr. Justice Coady's ruling that the issues in Mrs. May's action already have been decided by the courts here.

Carried Fish Worth $3,500

Value of the catch of the four U.S. fishboats seized Wednesday at Pichena Bay, on Vancouver Island's West Coast, was estimated today by G. A. Yardley, customs collector here, at $3,500. The Favorite carried 5,632 pounds of cod, bass and other fish and 3,550 pounds of dog fish livers; the Verona, 4,441 pounds of cod and other fish and 700 pounds of livers; the Theresa, 4,278 pounds of cod, bass and other fish and 1,021 pounds of livers; and the salmon Troller Ella June II had 1,500 pounds of spring salmon.

The catches were unloaded at

Allied Communique 36

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (CP-Reuters)—Headquarters said Friday night Allied pressure on the defenses of Cherbourg is increasing.

The text of Communique No. 36: Pressure on the Cherbourg defenses is increasing. Patrols east of Cherbourg are finding little opposition in the sector between Cap Levy and Saint Vaast.

Local fighting continues in the Caen-Tilly area. Early this morning an escorted convoy was intercepted south of Jersey by light coastal forces. One enemy armed trawler was sunk. One of the convoy was left ablaze and damage was inflicted on the remainder by gunfire.

The weather restricted air operations this morning. Fighters and fighter-bombers attacked varied rail targets beyond the battle area, including yards at Mezidon and a junction north of Le Mans. Rail lines south of Tours and Orleans were cut, bridges and tracks at Nantes, La Roche, Saumur and Ort and to the east and southeast of Granville were attacked.

Locomotives and other rail targets in the Paris area and the Cawzaubrand area were shot up. Preliminary reports show that 11 enemy aircraft were destroyed. None of ours is missing. Heavy day bombers, escorted by fighters, attacked without loss flying bomb installations in the Pas-de-Calais.

Coastal aircraft attacked E-boats in the eastern Channel, sinking two, probably sinking three more, and damaging several others. A minesweeper was also damaged.

Reconnaissance photographs show much rolling stock was destroyed in attacks by heavy night bombers on railway yards at Reims last night. Main lines were effectively blocked at many points by direct hits.

7 Nazi Officers Executed For Slandering Fuehrer

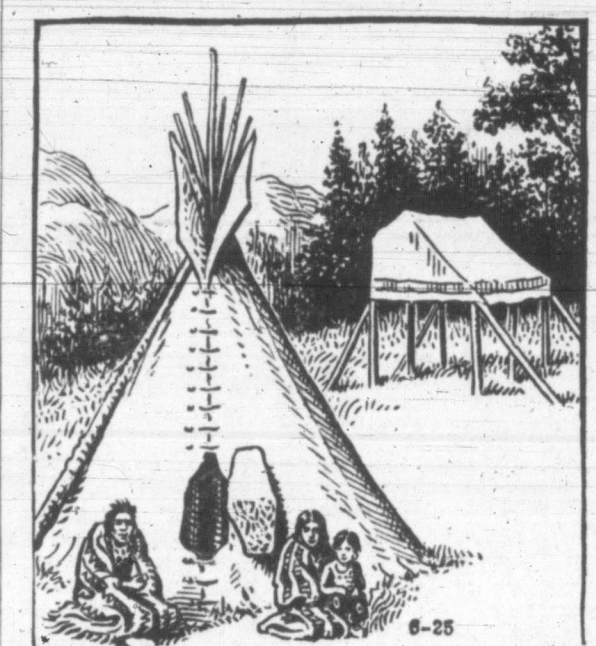

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Office of War Information said Friday a captured document issued by the German high command showed seven officers in the German army had been executed for "breach of their oath of allegiance to the Fuehrer by slandering, mocking and insulting his person," among other charges.

Declaring that "mercy for saboteurs and traitors to the Fuehrer and his work is out of the question," the document said that in the event of the discovery of more opposition to Hitler, "an inquiry will be made to see whether superior officers have failed to carry out their duty in the field of National Socialist leadership and ideological training."

The document said Hitler had ratified the death sentences against the seven officers.

O.W.I. said the paper was captured in Italy.

UNCLE RAY

INDIANS OF PLAINS LIVED IN BUFFALO- HIDE TENTS

Long ago the land between Winnipeg, Canada, and the Missouri River was occupied by Indians who were for the most part members of the Sioux Nation, or family of tribes.

The Sioux called themselves "Dakotah," but "Sioux" is the favorite name for them among white men. "Sioux" means "enemies," and was taken from the Algonquin language.

The Sioux included the Assiniboin tribe of Canada, and the Omaha, Arkansas, Iowa, Missouri, Winnebago, Osage and Mandan tribes. Those tribes have supplied various names in present-day geography. You will find among them the names of three American states, also of a number of rivers, villages and counties. "Osage," for example, was used in building the names of 11 villages, three counties and two rivers. One of the villages—a little place with only 66 people at the last count—is in the province of Saskatchewan, Canada.

GOT MONEY FROM OIL

Most of the Osages were residents of land which came to belong to the United States. They were moved, at length, to the Indian Territory, later the state of Oklahoma. In Oklahoma they settled down on some rich oil land. For its oil rights, the Osage tribe has been paid as much as $30,000,000 in a single year. That was an average of about $15,000 for each man, woman and child in the tribe.

The Blackfeet were among the other plains Indians. They did not belong to the Sioux group, but had much the same manner of life. Some of them lived in Montana, but a greater number made their homes in Saskatchewan.

USED TEEPEES AS HOMES

Old-time Indians of the western plains had homes of several sorts, but the most famous was the "teepee," also spelled "tipi." The name came from the Sioux language, and means "used for dwelling."

The standard teepee of the Kiowa Indians may be taken as an example. In building it, the Kiowas were in the custom of using 22 poles, each about 25 feet long.

COVERED WITH HIDES

The framework was covered with a great sheet formed by sewing together from 15 to 18 buffalo hides. The sewing was done with thread or cord made from sinews of animals. Where the edges of the sheet met, wooden "pins" were used to fasten it together, except for an opening which served as a doorway.

The opening had a cover or flap, composed of the skin of a buffalo calf, a coyote or a panther. At the centre of the teepee was a fire-pit, and there was an opening at the top through which smoke could pass.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

MANPOWER MANDATE

AS FROM July 1 the ancient and dishonorable calling of picking pockets will go by the board.

But the erstwhile pickpocket need not lose his skill and cunning. He will be given the opportunity of adapting himself nicely to precision work.

Such, at least, is the advice given by the War Manpower Commission of the United States to those light-fingered gentry.

I have it on the authority of a little manual, called "Job Family," an official publication issued in Washington, D.C.

GIVES TIPS FOR JOBS

THIS LITTLE compendium of useful information is being sent out to all United States Employment Service regional offices.

It is full of suggestions for those officials who will have to cope with the problem of allocating men to jobs best suited to their particular skills or aptitudes.

For after July 1, all male hiring will be done only through these channels, and the object is to direct men into related jobs in essential industries.

GIGGLES AS PAYMASTERS

COMPILED ON the same lines as a botany book, "Job Family" is a classification manual. It lists jobs and work according to related genus and species.

But whoever drew it up evidently had a sense of humor unusual in the official mind. It may, of course, have been unconscious humor.

For instance, its suggestion for the wartime use of gigglers, My acquaintance with gigglers being nil I do not feel competent to evaluate their particular talents.

But the Bureau of Manpower Utilization sees promise for them in the roles of paymasters, expeditors—whatever that may mean—and dispatchers.

FOR FORTUNE-TELLERS

AND THE SAME authority feels that fortune-tellers could be more useful to their country by testing thermometers instead of testing the credulity of their clients.

The relationship between the two occupations evades me, but the W.M.C. suggests that gamblers might adapt their talents to the war by becoming pipe cleaners—just to convey a picture of those little bristly gadgets with which a man allegedly cleans out a foul meerschaum.

And because of the correlation—in shape probably—between milk bottles and duckpins, pinball boys could take jobs in dairies as "set-up men."

ARE BARKERS WILLING?

A "BARKER"—not the canine variety—is offered a choice of opportunity for his stentorian gifts.

He may become a belleronger or a talley-shouter in a coal mine, according to the little manual.

And it is suggested that those talented artists, the hairdressers, could perform useful service by winding wire for armatures in aircraft or shipbuilding plants, instead of winding hair around "perm" curlers.

But there is a spice of cruelty in the proposal for the disposal of publicity men.

These products of a modern age only rate, in the eyes of the W.M.C., as potential depot masters in some railway station!

MODELS AND BALLET DANCERS

EVEN THE ARTISTIC world has been invaded in search of potential manpower material.

Thus, the W.M.C. feels that models would make good camera inspectors. Why? Because they have had valuable experience in the way of frequent inspection by a camera.

A sort of tit-for-tat!

And ballet dancers will probably be outraged when confronted with the official suggestion that they do their pirouetting on top of a telephone pole!

According to the powers-that-be, a ballet dancer is classified in the family of footworkers. And his agile feet might just as well twinkle up and down poles, in their estimation.

So the next time I go to the States I shall look aloft with eagerness for an artistic performance by a lissom linesman.

MASSEURS AS MOLDERS

PERHAPS BECAUSE they are accustomed to working in sticky heat, the booklet offers bathhouse attendants and masseurs a war job in heavy industry. But as molder-helpers or long-carriers.

I don't quite know why, but a butler would make a good watchman, according to this list.

I can understand, of course, why a dishwasher in a night club would do an equally good job as a dishwasher in a war plant cafeteria.

But I confess to being somewhat bewildered as to what special qualifications a clown has which would make him effective in the role of inspector in various essential industries, as the W.M.C. evidently thinks.

CATCH FOR CROONERS

IF THE IDEA bears fruit, users of telephones in the United States may be destined to swoon before long.

For "Job Family" in its "suggestions for singers" lists coloraturas and crooners as potential radio and telephone operators.

If the humble suggestion of a humble columnist like myself is of any value, I would like to propose that the crooners be allocated to the radio jobs. One has to answer the telephone frequently whereas one can turn off the radio!

All in all, the W.M.C. manual suggests that our neighbors to the south share another problem in common with us—that of the allocation of manpower into the most useful channels.

Australia Seeks Better Allocation Of Gas, Rubber

Supply problems vitally affecting Australia background the mission to Canada and the United States of Hon. John Albert Beasley, Australian Minister for Supply and Shipping and senior minister in the Curtin government.

He is a member of the Australian war cabinet, the non-party war advisory council and Australian production executive.

Mr. Beasley is in Victoria today on his return to Australia after attending the International Labor Office Conference held in Philadelphia, Pa. April 20. With him are H. C. Barnard, chairman of the parliamentary-social security committee of the Commonwealth; Andrew T. Callaghan, private secretary, and Ian Ward, C.P.R. assistant passenger traffic manager, Montreal.

As a result of his conferences in the United States, Mr. Beasley hopes to get increases of oil and gas, both raw and synthetic rubber, and textiles for Australia.

He pointed out that in order to maintain food levels necessary for the supply of the armies in the South Pacific and at the same time maintain commitments with the United Kingdom, it was essential that new allocations of oil and rubber be made available.

These allocations, it was indicated, should be based on the extent to which Australia can help to supply foodstuffs to the United Nations, more particularly to the Middle East, and not on Australia's local economy. In other words, Mr. Beasley said, it was necessary to reorientate the basis on which allocations were made.

Questioned as to the success of his mission, Mr. Beasley said "I have found an attitude of complete co-operation and a genuine desire to assist," he said. "The spirit of friendliness and good will with which I have been received everywhere I regard very highly. It is good to know that the part Australia has played and is playing in the war is known and appreciated."

North Saanich High Gives Dinner to Grads

The value of education in earning a living and in spiritual and mental growth were discussed by Dr. H. Coleman, former Dean of Philosophy at the University of B.C., at the annual graduating class dinner held at North Saanich High School.

Through education, Dr. Coleman said, the student could "live in company with the masters of all times."

A program of toasts, replies and a playlet entitled "The Fatal Quest," presented by Grade 12 boys, followed the dinner which was attended by the graduating class, parents and friends. The dinner was prepared by Grade 11 students and served by Grade 10 girls.

Mrs. R. Hamilton and Mrs. R. Dymond were in charge. The evening closed with a dance sponsored by the North Saanich P.T.A. with Mrs. D. Goodwin as convener. Gifts from the P.T.A. were presented by Mrs. W. Harrison, president.

Sports day cups were presented by R. Sansbury, chairman of the school board, to Keith Holland, Mac Ferguson, Doreen Munro, Sam Skinner, Shirley Readings and Brian Orr.

Ontario Cyclone Worst in History; 1 Dead, Several Hurt

TORONTO, (CP)—Building and crop destruction was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars today after the worst cyclone in southern Ontario history. One man was killed and several were injured by flying debris during the height of the twister, late Friday.

The storm first struck at Stratford, in the London area, and raged on to the southwest through the rich farming lands of Cardiac township on to Lambeth, where it finally blew itself out.

While agricultural losses were high, most farmers said they were protected to some degree by insurance.

ROADS CLEARED

Main highways in the area were open to traffic today after crews had toiled through the night to remove dozens of large fallen trees, telephone cables and poles.

The rainstorm was accompanied by thunder and lightning over a wide area of the western and eastern sections of southern Ontario, and telegraph facilities were interrupted in both regions for some time Friday night and again this morning.

Damage in eastern districts was reported to be comparatively light, though ripening crops were affected.

At Meaford on Georgian Bay, hay and grain were flattened, and gardens flooded in one of the worst storms in years.

Argyle Paines of Stratford lost his life.

Golds Hit Top

MONTREAL (CP)—Golds and mines were pointed up in transfers up to close of trading today on the stock exchange and curb market and other divisions were irregular.

At new highs in golds and mines were O'Brien, Labrador and Inspiration, and also former Hollinger, Falconbridge, Malartic Gold Fields and Shawke.

NEW YORK (AP)—Buyers again boosted prices for a handful of industrial specialties in the stock market today, while most prominent shares marked time and the recently-higher motors were under renewed liquidating pressure.

Canadian issues were mixed, with Dome and Seagrams up 1/4, C.P.R. 1/4 lower and Walkers 1/4 higher.
